Wilson Expected to Name Members of Commission This Week—Normal Industrial Situation in Sight.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Acting President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, who is attending the labor reconstruction conference here, predicted that by tonight 95 per cent of the miners would be back to work. "Though it has been a difficult task to reach all of the men in the short time since the decision was reached," he said, "it is certain that they will go back."

Restrictions imposed on the use of fuel during the strike gradually are being removed under the discretionary authority to rescind such orders given regional railroad directors. Thus the working week opened with a nearer approach to a normal industrial situation than any week since the strike was made effective, Nov. 1.

Although most of the power to rescind the various restrictions has been placed in the hands of the regional directors, the railroad administration is continuing to exercise a supervisory control over bituminous coal and coke. This has been made necessary not alone by the resignation of Fuel Administrator Garfield, but also by the resignations of Cyrus Guernsey, Jr., assistant to Dr. Garfield, and John A. Alport, chief engineer, both of whom came back to Washington to serve with their chief when the fuel administration was revived. These resignations have practically put an end to the re-institution of the administration.

Appointment by President Wilson of a commission to supersede the fuel administrator is expected this week. No intimations of the personnel have been given in official quarters, though the basis decided upon will make its composition include one mine worker, one coal mine operator and a representative of the public. The three will have power to readjust wage scales above the present advance given miners if desired, and also to advance the selling price of coal.

The scale committee of the operators of the central competitive field probably will meet in Cleveland Wednesday to consider their attitude toward the strike settlement.

RAILROADS
RELEASE COAL

Orders received by Freight Agent W. R. Torrence of the Pennsylvania lines here Monday released conditionally the coal that the railroads have been holding up during the fuel shortage.

The conditions implied in the order are that if a dealer has a thirty days supply of coal shipped to him shall be held up and that if a manufacturer has more than a ten day's supply of fuel on hand that coal shipments to him shall also be held up.

This order relieves the possibility of a coal shortage for domestic purposes or an industrial shut-down here and there will be no danger from now on of railroads seizing and holding coal consigned to either manufacturers or dealers before it is delivered.

UNION IS SOUGHT WITH FARMERS BY A.F.O.L. OFFICIALS

Federation's Co-operative Committee Appointed at Atlantic
City Convention
Meets at Capitol.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Another effort to establish relations with farmers' organizations is being made by the American Federation of Labor. The federation's co-operative committee appointed at the Atlantic City convention is in conference here and met with the representatives of several farmers' groups.

"In view of the declaration of principles adopted by the conference it was generally believed in labor quarters that the co-operation committee had made greater progress toward a common ground on which to meet the farmers' representatives than has any previous union group. Organized labor was declared by several spokesmen to be anxious to get organized farmers in the fold for the campaign which the workers plan to wage in the forthcoming election.

In this connection the statements made in the declaration, adopted by the conference, appealing to "all of those who contribute to society to unite in furtherance of the principles" were explained by labor leaders to mean that organized labor must be joined by the "producing classes if its victory is to be complete." These leaders asserted that the problems faced by organized labor are much the problems of the agricultural class because they are both political and economic.

Every pressure is being brought to bear on the farmer groups to line them up for labor's program, it was indicated at the Federation of Labor headquarters. Efforts, it was said, would be made to show the farmers that the conference's declaration against radicalism means as much to the tiller of the soil as to the industrial worker, and that the organized aid of the country worker is needed in the fight against "autocratic control and monopolistic maneuvering of the nation's raw supplies."

Perhaps every reader of the Gazette and Republican is familiar with the famous old picture "The Doctor," by Sir Luke Fields, which hangs in the National Gallery in London.

If so, is there one who has not felt a pang of sorrow when its full meaning dawned upon him. The poor little lad, in the midst of poverty, propped up on an improvised cot, made from chairs and pillows, with the doctor helplessly awaiting the end, while father stands with set jaw and squared shoulders, gathering courage to meet the unbelievable fact that in some way, for some unaccountable reason his little one is leaving him forever, and the mother, lost in anguish, has left the little one's side, in utter despair.

Where did this happen—the picture

was finished, across the water, ages ago, but the incident has been repeating itself right here at home time after time, ever since.

Back in those days, the present day modern hospital was not known, but why, now, do we allow our very neighbors to experience this same ordeal and go without the necessary comforts of the sick room.

Perhaps your neighbor will be the next. Will you, with your vote Tuesday deprive him of what his country should give him—proper protection in the time of his greatest need—when his loved ones are hovering on the brink. Think what your vote may mean to the other people in this community. You are your brother's keeper. Forget your pocketbooks and vote right.

BLAKE BOY DEAD;
MOTHER IS HELD
FOR HIS MURDER

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 15.—The body of James M. Blake, Jr., 6-year-old son of a wealthy Philadelphia insurance broker, who was declared by his mother to have been kidnapped last Friday night, washed ashore at Ventnor yesterday. Mrs. Blake has been placed under arrest.

Mrs. Blake, who on Friday night crawled to the home of Benjamin Fox in Ventnor and told of being attacked by two negroes, who, after beating her, robbed her of a handbag and then fled with her child, is charged with the murder of the boy. She was removed to the Atlantic City hospital, where she is guarded by a policeman. She is said to be suffering from a nervous collapse.

The boy's body was found less than five blocks from the pier in Ventnor where Mrs. Blake's handbag was recovered and about the same distance from the scene of the alleged kidnapping. Mrs. Blake is said to have been suffering from a nervous ailment for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake have been estranged for some time. The boy and a 10-year-old daughter had been in the custody of their father and had been permitted to go out with their mother.

Coal Production
Reaches 80 per Cent

Washington, Dec. 15.—Coal production will reach 80 per cent of normal today, it was announced today by the railroad administration after early reports had been received from the coal fields. In Kansas and Ohio alone the production is still considerably below normal and the situation is regarded as serious in these states.

The railroad administration today announced the lifting of restrictions on bunkering. The bunkering of ships was placed on a permit basis and coal will be issued to ships in the following order:

Inland and coastwise vessels, overseas vessels, foreign overseas vessels. This order will permit a number of foreign vessels which have been tied up for lack of fuel to sail.

DAVID GRIFFITH AND PARTY SAFE
AFTER VOYAGE

Miami, Fla., Dec. 15.—The yacht Grey Duck, on which David W. Griffith, motion picture producer, and a party of 36 left here Wednesday, arrived last evening at Nassau, Bahama Islands, with all on board safe, a radio message received by the Miami Herald from Nassau said.

The yacht, which was four days overdue on her arrival at Nassau, encountered heavy seas and members of the party had been without food for three days, the message said. Two passengers were swept overboard during the voyage, but were rescued. The message said the Grey Duck almost capsized and the pilot was injured, and others on board were forced to take their turn at the wheel while the little craft wallowed in the seas.

INJURED LINEMEN STILL IMPROVING

I. C. Shaw, Dayton Power and Light, lineman injured when a pole on which he was working Thursday fell to the ground, causing him to sustain a fractured skull still continues to improve at the McClellan Hospital, according to Dr. W. A. Galloway, attending physician.

It is believed now that if he passes through the secondary effects following such accidents that he will recover, although he is not yet out of danger. Herbert Shaw, lineman for the same company, who was seriously burned by a high tension wire in Dayton, the same afternoon as the accident here, is also improving according to word from Miami Valley Hospital where the injured man is confined. There are sincere hopes now for his recovery.

Carranza Must Be
"Spanked" is Opinion of Washington before
Kidnapping and Lawlessness Can be Overcome.

Washington, Dec. 15.—President Wilson's hand may be forced by Carranza. He is known to be watching the Mexican situation with anxiety and the prediction is being freely made here that he must soon abandon his policy of "watchful waiting."

Congress is watching the border with blood in its eye. Senators and congressmen on both sides of the political fence openly express their opinion that Carranza needs to be spanked and are firm in the belief that unless this is done in some form or other and in drastic fashion, the present outburst of kidnappings, murders and property outrages will go on, multiplying.

Despite the supposed attitude of President Wilson against intervention in Mexico, it is known he fully backed up Secretary Lansing in the latter's firm stand in the case of kidnapping, arrest and imprisonment of consular agent William O. Jenkins by the Mexican authorities of Puebla; and at one time in that affair the United States appeared within one ace of armed action. Even the president's critics admit that while he may not have been quick to leap into a fray he makes a thorough job of it when he leaps.

Significance is attached to the news that the department of justice is sending a number of special agents to the Mexican frontier, under John C. Sutter, assistant to the chief of the bureau of investigation and charged with keeping the border country under close surveillance. Reports have reached Washington that almost anything may be expected in that vicinity and the administration no doubt wishes to have first hand information on all that goes on.

TRAINS ON LOCAL ROADS REINSTATED

The three trains removed from the schedule of the Pennsylvania lines, and the two trains taken off the Baltimore & Ohio schedule last week because of the coal shortage, were reinstated Monday by orders sent out over the divisions.

The settlement of the coal strike and the fact that the miners are now returning to work, was the cause of reinstatement of the train service and puts train service through here on both roads back on its original schedule.

SENATE LEADERS
ISSUE WARNING ON RAIL BILLS

Washington, Dec. 15.—Warning has been given by Republican leaders in the senate that failure to dispose of the railroad bill this week might force abandonment of plans for a holiday recess starting Dec. 20.

While strong opposition has developed to the pending measure, leaders claimed its ultimate passage was certain, even if with a narrow margin.

A resolution introduced by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, demands that the senate investigate reports that vast sums of money had been raised to help put the railroad measure through congress. Senator LaFollette had charged that the Railway Executives' association and other interests had provided funds for propaganda purposes. Senator Norris, who said the public had a right to know if sinister influences were trying secretly to bring about enactment of the Cummins bill, raised no objection to a proposal by Senator Borah, Democrat, Ohio, that the senate interstate commerce committee, to which the resolution was referred, also investigate reports that advocates of the Plumb plan for control had $4,000,000 to expend in an effort to force adoption by congress of the tripartite system they proposed.

The print paper shortage was taken up today by the house postoffice committee in considering the bill of Representative Anthony, Republican, Kansas, to limit the size of newspapers and other periodicals.

Inquiry into treatment of radicals at Ellis Island was resumed by the house immigration committee, which has called A. W. Parker, former counsel for the immigration authorities. The committee possibly may hear Secretary Wilson and Immigration Commissioner Caminetti.

COURT DECIDES WAR MEASURE IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Washington, Dec. 15.—The United States supreme court today held the war time prohibition law constitutional.

The supreme court reversed the decision of the district court of Kentucky permitting the removal of whiskey from bond for beverage purposes. The decision of the New York court declaring the law constitutional was affirmed.

The court ruled that the war-time act was valid in its inception and that its validity has not been changed by any change of national condition.

The decision in the case was made on supreme court docket 602, affirming a lower court decision in the case known as "Alphonz Dryfuss, Eugene Blum, Eugene Basche, of New York, vs. William H. Edwards, collector of internal revenue." The case involved the right of Dryfuss to withdraw distilled spirits from bonded warehouses for beverage purposes.

EXTRA FARE TRAIN DELAYED BY WRECK

Pennsylvania passenger train No. 31 an extra fare through train to St. Louis was held up for three hours in this city Monday morning when the engine, tender and first trucks of the baggage coach were derailed on the east end yards near the Ervin Bros. & Davis elevator.

The train is due in here at 7:54 in the morning and did not leave until eleven o'clock. The local wrecking crew pulled the trucks of the baggage coach back on the tracks, and the rest of the train was derailed around the engine, and a new engine supplied to take it on to St. Louis. Passengers on the train pay extra fare for quick non-stop service and the railroad pays a bonus for delays.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Declaring that he had "no compromise or concession of any kind in mind" and would make no move toward the peace treaty's disposition, President Wilson said he would continue to hold the Republican members of the senate responsible for results and conditions attending delay.

The president's position, regarded as peculiarly significant in view of the recent discussion in the senate of a compromise, was set forth in the following from the White House:

"It was learned from the highest authority at the executive offices that the hope of the Republican leaders of the senate that the president would presently make some move which will relieve the situation with regard to the treaty is without foundation; he has no compromise or concession of any kind in mind, but intends so far as he is concerned that the Republican leaders of the senate shall continue to bear the undivided responsibility for the fate of the treaty and the present condition of the world in consequence of that fate."

The White House statement apparently had no effect in changing the treaty situation. Democratic leaders, endorsing the president's views, declared that it did not preclude a senate compromise, and that compromise efforts would proceed. Republican leaders reiterated that the president was responsible for the present status and must make the first move toward a solution. Senators hoping to kill the treaty alone expressed satisfaction.

On one point only, apparently, were all senate factions in harmony—namely, that decisive action on the treaty probably would be deferred until next month, after the proposed holiday recess of congress, planned to end Jan. 5.

Senator Hitchcock, commenting on the White House statement, declared that the Democrats would continue efforts for compromising the reservations and that the senate and not the president must act first. "The president says the whole matter is in the hands of the senate, and I agree with him," said Mr. Hitchcock. He declared positively that the Democrats never would consent to ratification of the treaty without the league of nations and would not accept the plan offered by Senator Knox, Republican, Pennsylvania, to ratify the peace terms and leave the league question for decision by the voters.

Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican member of the foreign relations committee and prominent among the treaty's implacable foes, in a statement charged that large financial interests were engaged in propaganda favoring a senate compromise and also proposed to keep the treaty and the league from being passed on by the people during the ensuing presidential campaign.

ALLIES DRAFT NOTE TO THE EX-KAISER

London, Dec. 15.—The allies are understood to be drafting a joint note to Holland demanding the extradition of the ex-kaiser.

Sir Gordon Hewart, the attorney general of England, has now completed all the plans for the trial, it was learned today.

The trial of the former German emperor was one of the questions considered at the conference between Premier Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau.

What a pity she doesn't know Resinol Soap would improve her complexion

Remarks like the above are passed about many girls whose appearance would be most attractive were it not for a poor skin. RESINOL SOAP is just what such girls need to help in overcoming their complexion difficulties. It does more than, remove dirt—it gets right after those clogged pores, and excessive oiliness, and it benefits the skin cells. When a little Resinol Ointment is used in connection with Resinol Soap, relief is hastened, and unless the trouble is due to some internal disorder, the complexion is usually cleared in a short time.

RESINOL SHAVING STICK is very popular with men who like the way the Resinol in it soothes the face. Resinol products at all druggists.

There were thirty signalmen present at the meeting.

HOSPITAL SITE WILL BE IN HANDS OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES

There is much speculation as to the probable location of the proposed Greene County Memorial Hospital if the issue carries when voted on at the polls Tuesday. It is understood however that several sites are available and will likely be considered by the trustees if the issue passes. It is rumored in some of the county towns that they will make a bid for the institution, offering locations within their own boundaries. Two miles west of Xenia one location has been suggested, while another one mentioned as possible adjoins the city on the southeast.

What site will be finally chosen, however, will rest in the hands of the board of trustees which will be appointed by Governor Cox. This body will select the location, it is understood on the merits of the several proposed sites, and will have absolute authority in choosing it.

SAYS CO. HOSPITAL WOULD BE A FITTING SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL

Men of Greene county, I appeal to your patriotism and your pride and submit to you that we cannot afford to let brave deeds and heroic acts go unmarked and forgotten. If we are a grateful people. In the last war when our sons were called, we rallied as one man, gave up our loved ones and seen to it that they had every comfort that a prosperous and loyal people could give. We did not stop to figure expense, or count our dollars. We met every call cheerfully and bountifully. The boys did their duty and were in at the death when the war was won. They came home proud of achievement to the hearts of a loving people. A grateful people will perpetuate their memory in an everlasting monument. The Memorial Hospital, a thing that stands out as fitting and appropriate a worthy tribute to all the heroes of the past, a bulwark for the perpetuation of Greene counties health and strong manhood. We did not go to war, we did not suffer in camp and firing line, we did not go into the hell of uncertainty and death. We stayed at home, secure in life and unmolested in all our pursuits.

Now what will we do Tuesday. Will we acquit ourselves like men and make it possible to perpetuate great deeds, at the same time safeguard life and health of the whole county? Or will we figure the dollar above all these things, and forget all the things that make us great. It is up to the voters. Do not shame this grand old county, by voting against the Memorial Bond issue.

Respectfully submitted, JOHN W. PRUGH, Chairman Executive Committee Greene County Memorial.

MAJOR GENERAL WOOD'S CANDIDACY.

The managers of Major General Leonard Wood have decided to bring Mahomet to the mountain. A few days in Washington and they were convinced that the party leaders in the East are more favorable to either Senator Harding or Governor Lowden for the Republican nomination for the Presidency than to their candidate. They are assured of their strength in the Middle West, and they are ready to start their campaign in the East. They realize they have some hard fighting ahead, but they are enthusiastic and optimistic.

Formal announcement of General Wood's candidacy is expected within a few weeks. It is thought that he will declare himself before January 1 in order to meet the requirements of the South Dakota presidential preference law which requires candidates to announce themselves and their platforms on or before that date in order to be voted for in the primaries.

Colonel William L. Proctor, of Cincinnati, went to Washington to confer with national leaders of the party. He has been selected as General Wood's campaign manager. There is to be no "closed season" in the Wood hunt for the nomination until the will of the convention is announced next June.

Colonel Proctor conferred with Frank T. King, of Connecticut, who has been directing the Wood campaign and it was decided to open national headquarters at an early date.

General Wood is a great man. His service in the Spanish-American War will not soon be forgotten by Americans. And anybody who has been to Havana, Cuba, will bear testimony to the indubitable evidence presented there of his marvelous executive ability in cleaning up that great city and giving to it wonderful improvements of which they are very proud. No name is more canonized in Havana than that of Leonard Wood, for the marvelous transformation he wrought there while Military Governor of Cuba after the war.

There has been some criticism of General Wood for a phrase he used in an address he recently made at Williams College, saying, "Avoid internationalism as you would death." We have not seen any explanation from him of just what he meant in the expression, but in view of the existing national discussion of the League of Nations some have inferred that he is opposed to it, and that that is what he meant. We hope not.

Many of those who oppose the League of Nations base much stress for their position on the language in Washington's Farewell Address where he cautions us to beware of "entangling alliances" with foreign nations. We have just re-read this famous document and we think he referred to our taking sides with any particular nation as against another—for he speaks of "partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another"—says we should be impartial or in other words neutral.

We are sure if George Washington had been alive during the late war he would have been among the first to urge our entrance into it.

Self-protection is implanted by God in the human breast—so when a barbarous nation with which we were on good terms, and against which we had not lifted a hand, sunk the Lusitania, and sent to death hundreds of our citizens, there was nothing left for us to do in self-defense than resent the insult. We would be a nation of neutrals if we had not done so.

Think of the George Washington of Valley Forge—and can you think of him, if alive after the sinking of the Lusitania, as being neutral.

THE DEADLIEST EPIDEMIC.

A well known medical authority says that influenza is "a more fatal infection than smallpox." He argues accordingly for thorough isolation of influenza patients, following the same method that is practiced as a matter of course with smallpox cases.

A good test of this method was made last winter in Buffalo. That city fought the flu by closing all its schools, church, theaters and other public places, by using vaccines, and by insisting on the wearing of gauze masks. These precautions were put in force in the early stages of the epidemic. As a result, it never became a very serious epidemic in Buffalo. That city suffered far less in proportion to population than the majority of American cities, where rigid isolation and other scientific regulations were not adopted.

A repetition of last year's epidemic has been feared for this winter. It has not yet developed alarmingly anywhere, but there have been many disquieting appearances of the disease. Manifestly, the only sensible thing to do, wherever it breaks out, is to recognize influenza for what it is—a disease as deadly as any epidemic to which the modern world is subject—and treat it accordingly.

REPRESENTATIVE FAVORS FABRIC LAW IN LETTER

A national pure fabric law is favored by Senators Harding and Pomerehne and Representative S. D. Fess.

In letters which were written to the Greene County Sheep and Wool Growers Association, and which were read at the annual meeting of that organization Saturday afternoon, the statesmen said they could heartily endorse and would support such a measure. Their feelings regarding the matter were sought by President J. C. Williamson of the Greene County Sheep and Wool Growers' Association and County Farm Agent Ford S. Prince.

The local organization will unite with the Ohio and The National Sheep and Wool Growers' Association in backing such a measure. Such a law would compel manufacturers to label clothing or cloth as to the amount of wool, cotton or "shoddy," that it contains "shoddy" is worked over wool, in which the fabric is short and does not have the wearing quality of good wool.

R. A. Hammond of Columbus, who had charge of all wool which was handled and sold in Columbus last summer, addressed the local sheep and wool men at Saturday's meeting. This wool was handled through the Ohio Sheep and Wool Growers' Association, and was sold by it for the growers, direct to the manufacturers, eliminating the commission man. The farmer paid the low rate of five and one-half per cent for having his wool handled, graded and sold.

Mr. Hammond explained that every fleece was graded placed in its proper grade and sold upon its merits. He explained the different grades, the manner in which the wool is graded, and the manner in which it is tied up and bagged. He answered many questions which were put to him by the members.

J. C. Williamson was re-elected chairman of the Greene county association. The secretarial work will be handled through the Greene County Farm Bureau.

The chairman will appoint an executive committee later.

There are 96 members of the association and about 40 were present at Saturday's meeting.

It is estimated that there are 258 farmers in the county who own more than 15 sheep, and it is the intention of the association to make an effort to get most of them into the association.

While only 40,000 pounds of wool was handled in Columbus for the members of the local association this year, all of it was of excellent quality. Columbus handled wool and a half million pounds of fleeces for Ohio wool growers this year.

To Renovate Old Oil Paintings.
When old oil paintings have become dark and cracked they may be made to look like new by the following process, says the Illustrated World: Pour alcohol in a dish and put the picture over it, face downward. The fumes of the alcohol dissolve the paint of the picture, the cracks close up and the color becomes more fresh. Caution is absolutely necessary, as the paint may become so soft as to run together, thus spoiling the whole picture.

MAGIC AMUSES MANY AT THEATER FRIDAY

Regular old time magic of the "rabbit in the hat" sort, amused an audience at the opera house Friday night when the "Great Herrmann" appeared with his troupe of minstrel singers and dancers.

Herrmann himself was the big feature of the program and his magic tricks and his repertoire of new magic was interesting as well as amusing. The minstrel part was a lively change from the magic acts and Rose Washburn, Billy Heins and the Miller orchestra were exceedingly popular in this part.

The Integrated Goat.
The story of the Integrated Goat concerns the man who had a lawn to cut and no lawnmower. He was too poor to buy a lawnmower and he hated the labor of mowing, so he bought a goat. The goat saved him the labor by eating the grass, produced special milk for the baby, fertilized the lawn and ate a few tin cans on the side. That is a crude case of integrated effort. We pay tribute to the wisdom of this sort of effort in our popular proverb, "Killing two birds with one stone." This is also a crude figure. Real scientific integrated effort would require that we kill ten birds with one stone and get the stone back.—From the Nation's Business.

Saving Coal Saves Money

And Helps The Nation

There's a wealth of proof to show that your home may be thoroughly comfortable at a third or a half less fuel than you have been using. The Caloric Pipeless Furnace is a remarkable fuel conserver. Many say it saves half. Here is just one sample letter taken at random out of thousands which the manufacturers receive from pleased Caloric owners:

"I am heating very comfortably seven rooms and not using any more fuel than I did with a double heater, heating only two rooms."—W. P. Sargent.

The Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

Over fifty thousand homes, many of them in this state, have found this furnace the economical, common-sense method of keeping comfortable. They bought on a guarantee of real fuel saving and perfect satisfaction, and the Caloric made good. One register delivers all the heat from the fuel directly into your living rooms and draws out the cold air, insuring an abundance of balmy, moist warmth right where you want it. The Caloric can be installed in a day. It is a triumph of engineering skill that embodies many patented features which have made it the leader and which are not found in imitations. Come in and see this wonderful furnace. We will tell you frankly whether it is adapted to your home. If we say it is, we will give you our personal guarantee that it will make good or we will take it out. Come in and talk it over.

YE IRON FENCE AROUND LAWNS WHERE IS IT?

The passing of the iron fence!

Like fifteen cent eggs, kaisers, flow moustaches, and the amber colored brew, it has been relegated to live only in the pages of history.

It does not require an ancient patriarch to remember when the front yard fence was a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." In those days, like babies, bacteria and celluloid collars, everybody had 'em.

Where was the imposing residence with its imposing lawn, that did not boast its boundary fence and its iron deer. It seems that they were a common disease brought on by prosperity, the same as pewter tea sets, coaches and fairs, and like monstrosities of a forgotten age.

Yet now but few lawns cling to the boundary fence. Forbidding they were for they gave to the house and grounds an air of assured snobbishness, a sort of aloofness, that seemed to be essential in those days to impart the real aristocratic flavor to the residence of the rich.

And even the County Court house was not spared a fence. The ancient edifice that once stood on the spot the new and imposing building now graces, shielded itself with a wall and iron rail fence. Its purpose 'tis said was to keep the loafers away and avoid the inevitable tramping upon the neatly trimmed greensward. Yet it served an opposite purpose, for its funny railings proved a most comfortable roosting place for the floating public and the grass suffered in ratio.

But withal, the boundary fence served a noble purpose. Many a neighborhood brawl in the old days was spared the "neighborhood housewife, and many a case that thrusts its sordid if amusing tale into police court would never have seen the light of day, had it been fostered during an earlier regime amid the surroundings of the late lamented iron fence.

For kids were kids then the same as now, and the neighbor's flowers were never up-rooted or your own potato vines trampled underfoot, because of the forbidding fence with its silent yet none the less stalwart protection.

Ask the county or city surveyor who found the greater part of his time involved in settling boundary disputes. The iron fence, the front yard boundary fence, settled for once and for all the petty boundary disputes in the old days. Now it is different.

So all hail to the fence—its beauty was questionable yet it served a noble purpose.

Chinese Calligraphy.

The Chinese, according to a Canton paper, recognize the extreme complexity of their written language. About 20 years ago, in the days of the empress dowager, a scholar and reformer named Wang Chao, who held the highest obtainable literary degree, conceived the idea of a simplified form of Chinese writing. He invented a phonetic system of symbols, which was promptly branded revolutionary and suppressed, while its "radical" author was banished. Later, however, the idea has been introduced, and the government has tried a system of the same kind, but more complicated, without much success. Two missionaries of Tsang-chow have fared better in an effort to revive Wang Chao's phonetic script, which is based on the fact that, although the number of characters is vast, there are only 318 "word-sounds" in the Chinese language.

Government and City Health
Officials Warn People to
Keep Clean.

Stay Away from People with
Coughs and Colds.

"Avoid crowds if you want to avoid influenza," says Association for Improving the Conditions of New York.

Keep your hands clean, drink plenty of fresh water; sleep with windows open; eat three uniform meals a day including a good breakfast.

People who have catarrh or frequent colds invite influenza, declares a prominent Kentucky druggist.

The membrane of the throat and nose is raw, sore and tender, and makes a lovely abiding place for germs to thrive and multiply.

He advises an inexpensive home-made remedy that will bring relief in less than a day and will stop all discharge and soothe and heal the inflamed membrane in a few days. Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Pour three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and sniff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat clean and healthy.

Nearly all druggists dispense Mentholized Arcline in vials containing exactly three-quarters of an ounce, which is all you need to make a pint of this healthful medicine.

A Fair Substitute

By ALVAH JORDAN GARTH

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

It had been a matter of pride to Bertha Lull when she married Alvin Price that he was a very handsome man of winning and agreeable manners. Every friend and acquaintance he made became an admirer. Blanche Vansant had tried her coquettish wiles, but Alvin was neither flirt nor trifler and when he married another there was a certain tinge of envy and jealousy.

Alvin was a traveling salesman for a large wholesale millinery house and had an established clientele. His route did not take him out of the state, and he never missed coming home Saturdays until he announced to Bertha one day that he was expected by his firm to make a special rush trip covering his entire route within a month, to place a new hat braid that had arrived late and would be out of vogue with the end of the season.

Bertha and Blanche had always been good friends and the former was glad to have her old time school friend spend all the time she could spare in her company.

"I should not like to have a traveling man for a husband," said Blanche, "and particularly as handsome a one as Alvin. I always frankly considered that he was irresistible."

"Why, you ridiculous pessimist!" laughed Bertha. "Do you suppose Alvin ever even thinks of anybody but me?"

"He shouldn't, I'll admit," answered Blanche, "for you are a perfect little jewel of beauty and duty, but Alvin also attracts attention, and my cousin who visited us last week and who knows Alvin, says that among the roadmen not one of them dares to aspire to the marked partiality of the ladies as does Alvin, and that he is such a favorite that many of them won't give their trade to anybody else."

"Why, bless you! Blanche," observed Bertha artlessly, "how can the dear creatures help it? Was there ever such a genial, accommodating and helpful a fellow in the world?"

A week later a casual remark of Blanche set Bertha thinking and worrying. She repeated something her cousin had said about a Mrs. Adams, a milliner at Glenville. A fellow roadman had told of how Alvin would go out of his way to visit the lady, and that it was a subject of gay badinage among other salesmen. Alvin came back home several days sooner than expected. Then all was forgotten with Bertha's save solicitude and tenderness.

"I'm about done out with my long jaunt," Alvin told her. "Was laid up with a slight fever for two days. Doctor said I was due home for a rest. Too bad, for I had finished my entire route except six little towns down in Walden county. Bertha, dear, I want you to write a little for me to the house, explaining that I'm laid up for a spell, but covered everything but the towns marked on this list," and he handed Bertha a written sheet. She started and flushed as she read among them that of Glenville, the town where Mrs. Adams did business.

"Alvin," she said, "will it take much time or work to go to these places and see your customers?"

"Very little of either," replied Alvin, "for they are among my surest clients."

"Then," said Bertha with animation, "why not let me take your place and finish the trip? Give me the samples and instructions. You will be proud to find out what an eager little business woman I am."

Alvin demurred, but Bertha finally overcame his scruples. She felt secretly guilty as she found herself on a train, for she realized that her main purpose was to see some of those "impressible milliners" with whom Alvin was such a favorite and the sting of Blanche Vansant's unkind insinuation smarted yet.

Elmore was the first town Bertha visited. It had but one milliner and as Bertha entered her store the woman stared at her fixedly.

"Why, you must be Mrs. Price," she exclaimed.

"How did you know that," questioned Bertha in amazement.

"Because you just placed Mr. Price's sample case on the counter, and the number of times that proud husband of yours has shown his customers your picture in the back of his watch couldn't be counted."

Bertha went to the next town, Glenville, with her heart cheered and comforted. Still, she entered the store of Mrs. Adams all agitated. A middle aged woman sat sewing on a hat.

"Are you Mrs. Adams?" inquired Bertha.

"Oh, no, I am her daughter. Mother, someone wishes to see you."

A woman gray-haired and bent and wrinkled appeared. She scanned Bertha curiously, recognizing her instantly. The moment Bertha told her mission the old lady folded her in her motherly arms.

"You are welcome as the flowers in spring, you sweet love!" she spoke, kissing Bertha rapturously. "Has that dear, good husband of yours told you how he saved me from losing all I had, and comes clear out of his way to look over my books and help me along?"

Humbled, repentant, loving and trusting her husband more than she ever had done, Bertha Price returned home with order book and heart full to repletion.

Hard on the Trousers.

Though the wonderful mechanism of an artificial leg is of enormous value to those who are obliged to wear it, there is one very serious item to be reckoned with, and that is its tendency to create a big bill for trousers. An officer recently exhibited a tear in his trouser leg caused by some part of the mechanical joint catching in the cloth, and the daily task of pushing the artificial leg into the trousers wears them out in other directions all too soon in these days of costly tailoring.

MOTHERS OF OHIO

Conneaut, Ohio.—Always during expectancy I would become so lame that I would be bedfast, my back would be so stiff that I could not move by myself.

I tried various medicines but not until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did I get relief. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a perfect tonic for the expectant mother, for it not only strengthened me and relieved me of all pain and lameness but I had comparatively no suffering, and my babies were hardy and strong—absolutely perfect—mentally and physically, which I considered due to the fact that the tonic I took, 'Favorite Prescription,' contained no harmful ingredient."

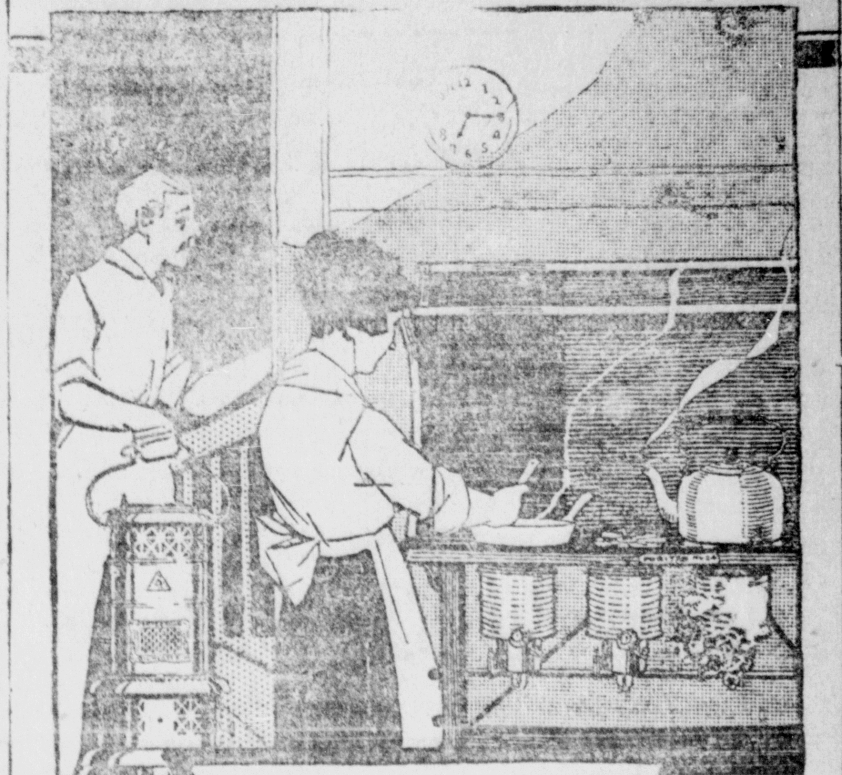

Mrs. FRANK LUCE.

Elyria, Ohio.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an excellent medicine for prospective mothers. It is good to take all during the period and if more women would take it there would be more healthy babies and the mothers' own health would be so much better, too. At one time I was miserable, suffered with sick stomach, could not eat anything and retain it, and I was not feeling good in any way when I began taking the 'Prescription.' It soon stopped the nausea and kept me feeling fine right up to the last. I had practically no suffering, and my baby was strong and healthy."

"I have thought so well of 'Favorite Prescription' ever since that I am always recommending it to my friends and all who have taken it agree with me that it is the very best woman's medicine there is."—Mrs. W. H. Woodruff, 115 Fairlawn Ave.

SECTION 2. Said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund in their official capacity, and if said Sinking Fund Trustees refuse to take any or all of said bonds at par and accrued interest, then said bonds not so taken, shall be offered at par and accrued interest to the Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the City School District, and then such of said bonds as are not so taken, shall be advertised for public sale, and sold in the manner provided by law, but not for less than par and accrued interest.
SECTION 3. The proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premiums and accrued interest thereon, shall be placed in the City Treasury to the credit of "The Xenia Water Company Purchase and Extension Fund" and shall be disbursed upon proper vouchers for the purchase and extension as aforesaid, and for no other purpose; the premiums and accrued interest received from the sale of said bonds, shall be transferred to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund, to be applied by them in the manner provided by law.
SECTION 4. There shall be levied and collected annually during the period for which said bonds have to run by taxation on all taxable property on the tax duplicate of the City of Xenia, Ohio, an amount sufficient to pay the interest thereon as herein provided, and to provide a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds at maturity, provided that the amount of such annual levy shall be such as to provide for and make up any deficiency in the revenues of said City of Xenia, Ohio, available for the payments of such interest and the creation of such sinking fund for the revenues and the proceeds derived from the operation of said water works plant, or otherwise; and the proper taxing authorities shall compute the amount of such general tax levies and certify the same for collection as other taxes are certified and collected.
SECTION 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.
Passed this 11th day of December, 1919.
J. THORP CHARTERS, President of City Commission.
Attest:
GEORGE H. STOKES, Clerk of City Commission.

"ENLISTMENT WEEK" TO BE OBSERVED HERE BY BAPTIST CHURCH

The Northern Baptist convention in arranging the year's program for the "Forward Movement" have designated this week as "Enlistment Week," for Baptist churches and have instituted "The Family Group Plan," in the local churches. This plan will be observed by First Baptist church of this city on next Monday and will continue through the week. The scheduled program is as follows:
Monday Evening—East side, at the home of Mrs. Charles Taylor, Monroe and East Main streets, leaders, Mrs. O. Dice and Mrs. C. Taylor, Speaker Rev. A. Reed.
Monday Evening—North side at the home of Mrs. Howard Jones, North Galloway street, leaders, Mrs. H. Jones and Mrs. M. Collins. Speaker, Mrs. Lulu C. Quisenberry.
Tuesday Evening—Orient Hill, at the home of Mrs. A. J. Wilson, South Columbus street, leaders Miss Anna Norekauer and Miss Ruth Maley. Speaker, the pastor.
Wednesday Evening—At the church. The pastor will give a survey talk on Assurance.
Thursday Evening—Spring Hill, at the home of Mrs. Albert Oglesbee, leaders, Mrs. A. Oglesbee and Mrs. Carl Van Horn. Speaker, the pastor.
Friday Evening—West end, at the home of Mrs. Robert Fuller, West Second street, leaders, Miss Harriet McCarty and Mrs. Carey Dunham. Speaker, Mrs. L. C. Quisenberry.
Meetings will begin at 7:15 p. m. The families are urged to be present and the public is cordially invited. The week's program will have as its initial feature the presence next Sunday morning at the church of Rev. H. E. Dudley, of Burma, who will describe his work and its conquests. He will speak to the Sunday school and church congregation.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Editor Gazette and Republican:
Under the caption: "Warm contribution to 'our' hospital," a soldier, who fails to give his name makes an unwholesome and thoroughly prejudiced attack in the last issue of a county paper, upon the proposed Greene County Memorial Hospital.
Hiding safely behind the nom de plume "A. E. F. Inclusive," he flagrantly flays the good people behind the movement for a hospital, hinting at graft, assailing the project as attempting to succeed by using the prestige of a "memorial for the soldiers" and stating broadly that the soldier vote will not be behind the movement.
The letter, on its face, is a deliberate, one-sided attempt, to throw a monkey-wrench into the machinery of a project that is so big and so general in its far-reaching service, that in itself it belittles the smallness of the voter who would attempt to stand in its path.
The writer also takes the opportunity of encroaching upon the generosity of the public press by shamefully attacking the physicians of the county who are furthering the movement, a profession that during the late unpleasantness has covered itself with glory, and whose members have braved death in the same camps and on the same battlefields that the letter refers to, in an attempt too save the lives of the soldiers, a matter the writer seems to hold lightly. No Americans acquitted themselves more honorably in their efforts whether at home or abroad, than did the medical fraternity.
While it may be true that soldiers no more than any one else are "given to admiring last resting places and grave-stones, and their monuments, or even hospitals, the home of the sick and the dying," still all the arts of modern science have failed to reveal a way to avoid having such institutions, and yet modern science has taught that the institution of such hospitals in the attempt to fight disease and death from injury, has greatly reduced the amount of these distressing things that are going on the world.
As for the soldier side of the questions, the fact that the miseries of sickness, disease and injury have been more closely brought home to the soldier than to any one else, should convince them of the need of a hospital and the good it can accomplish. At a meeting of the executive committee of Joseph P. Foody, Post 95, of the American Legion here, the movement for a hospital was heartily endorsed and it is believed that in the main, the men who were in the service all over the county are back of the project.
I take it also that "A. E. F. Inclusive," while he makes use of a rather broad sounding title, represents perhaps only a few, while the Memorial Hospital is designed to be a living and lasting memorial to the soldiers of Greene county of every war from the Revolutionary to the late World War. Its purpose also is to commemorate the pioneers of the county who did much to make this locality a good place to live in before

"A. E. F. Inclusive" ever saw the light of day.
In hinting at graft behind the project for a hospital, "A. E. F. Inclusive" is assailing the honesty and integrity of men who have been in the van of progress in this county for years. He is maliciously attacking the reputation of citizens, who have the interests of the community at heart and in assailing the medical fraternity, he is attacking men who while he was in the service, were going to untold ends in their endeavor to assist the government in bringing a successful victory and an unalloyed peace to the world.
Quoting Dr. Frank Garland, head of the welfare department of Dayton, and a man thoroughly in touch with the service rendered by the public hospital," the man should have his head examined who would vote against a proposition of this nature.
But fortunately the right-minded people of Greene county, the thinking people who have studied the possibilities and the need of a hospital here, not only for the service it renders its patients, but the development it offers the medical profession and the opportunity it affords in the well-organized fight of disease, will lay little stress on the flamboyant and absurd communication from "A. E. F. Inclusive."
In fact, even if the contributor's viewpoint is really sincere, his crude effort to excite sentiment against the project is considerably more likely to take the shape of a boomerang and result in an opposite effect from what he hopes.
(Signed) GEORGE H. STOKES, A. E. F.

AGED RESIDENT DIES AT PORT WILLIAM

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon for Miss Maria Woolery, who died at her home in Port William last Wednesday evening, after an illness lasting ten weeks, following a stroke of paralysis.
Miss Woolery was 72 years of age and was born and raised near Port William, moving into the village two years ago. Three brothers survive, Harrison, of Lenworth, Ohio, Asbury, of Paintersville, Harvey, of near Port William, and a sister, Etta, of Port William.

HELPS PICK SITE FOR G. O. P. MEET

Miss Mary Garrett Hay.

Miss Hay, holding the proxy of E. J. Sweet, state representative on the national Republican committee from Maine, sat in the high council of the G. O. P. at Washington recently to help choose a site for the convention next June. It was the first time that a woman has had a vote in such a gathering. Chicago was selected for the convention.

COST OF HOSPITAL TO TAX PAYER IS BUT FEW CENTS YEAR

The cost of the proposed Greene County Memorial Hospital in dollars and cents to the taxpayer is 3 1/2 cents semi-annually on every $100 worth of taxable property. In other words a property valuation of $1000 would mean a semi-annual cost of 35 cents, while on $10,000 the cost would only be $3.50. As pointed out by those interested in the hospital, this represents but a small investment in a means of life insurance that is worth several times this amount to the beneficiary.
With a crying need existing in Greene County for an adequate hospital the question of the bond issue for the proposed County Memorial Hospital appeals to the common sense of every voter in the county.
The parties interested in the promotion of the hospital bond issue are asking no more from the people of Greene County than is the custom in any other community. Other communities seeing the need of adequate facilities for taking care of the sick and injured, have long since waved aside personal prejudices and voted for the establishment of such hospitals.

11 HENS IDLE; NOW LAY 221 EGGS A MONTH

Mrs. Young Almost Gave Up Raising Chickens. Then She Tried This Plan.
"When I accepted your offer and tried Don Sung, I had been getting 1 or 2 eggs every other day. The next month, using 50 cents worth of Don Sung, my 11 hens laid 221 eggs. I almost gave up raising chickens, but now I have decided to raise as many as I can."—Mrs. F. C. Young, Bellefonte, Pa.
Feed is too expensive to waste on idle hens. You can easily start your hens laying and keep them laying, even in coldest winter. To prove it, all you need do is accept our offer as Young did.
Give your hens Don Sung and water results for one month. If you don't feed that it lays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.
Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her more active in any weather, and starts her laying.
Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Dugger Co., 284 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

Exquisite Tones that Thrill the Soul
PHONOGRAPHIC tone reproduction reaches its climax when presented by The Brunswick. Play any make record—vocal or instrumental—and the utmost in tone quality is achieved.
Such triumphant success is due to the Brunswick Method of Reproduction. This is accomplished by two exclusive features. Both are scientific yet simple. The Brunswick Phonograph has built into it the best ingenuity known to the phonograph world. The Ultona plays all records truer, finer, sweeter. It is not a makeshift contrivance. A slight turn of the hand presents the right needle, diaphragm and weight for playing any record.
The Tone Amplifier is an oval shaped vibrant tone chamber. Like the sounding board of a fine piano or violin, it is made entirely of wood and free from metal.
One hearing of The Brunswick will cause you to discard the standards of yesterday in judging phonographs. You can easily verify those claims. A call will permit us to play your favorite record.

CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON IS MAKING STEPS

Washington, Dec. 13.—President Wilson's industrial conference, working steadily and quietly is "making progress." This report was made today by the White House after a preliminary report of the workings of the conference had been made to the president.

A very definite program for the settlement of industrial unrest has been tentatively formulated it was stated, and there is every indication that it will furnish the basis for a real working arrangement which will wipe out some of the difference between capital and labor.

The conference is somewhat hampered for lack of funds, it was stated, and the sessions may have to be cut short if congress does not make an appropriation for the expenses of the conference members.

LEWIS SAYS MEN WILL BE BACK IN MINES BY MONDAY; WE HAVE FAITH IN PRESIDENT HE DECLARES

Washington, Dec. 13.—“The men will be back in the mines by Monday,” declared John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, today, arriving at the American Federation of Labor headquarters to attend the labor conference.

“We have full faith in the president,” said Lewis. “His commission we expect will settle all of the difficulties and work out a whole program of adjustment.”

“Everything now awaits the appointment of the commission by the president but the men are returning to their work and will all be back by Monday.”

The commission to be named by the president will not be appointed before next Monday, it was stated at the White House. The commission has been tentatively selected by the president, it was stated.

The president is awaiting full compliance with the terms of the settlement agreement before taking any steps to set the commission in operation.

CAMBRIDGE LADY SPENT SIX WEEKS IN A HOSPITAL

Was operated on for Tumor; been treated by best physicians in county, but seemed no one understood her case.

Has taken two bottles of Drecto and declares she is regaining her health very fast. Weight increased six pounds.

"I spent six weeks in a hospital and underwent an operation to remove two tumors; have had the best medical treatment that money could procure, but I did not seem to regain my health," writes Mrs. Clyde Stewart, of Route 7, Cambridge, O.

"I read about a Zanesville man who got such great relief from the new medicine, Drecto, so I bought two bottles of it and started the treatment. Those two bottles of Drecto have done me more good than anything else I ever did. I have a good appetite now; sleep sound; have gained six pounds in weight. Drecto has been such a help to me after these years of suffering that I ought to tell my experience so that it may lead some suffering person to use this grand medicine."

There are many cases on record where Drecto has helped sick and suffering persons after all means had been exhausted. While Drecto is not a "cure-all" by any means, it is a plain, common-sense remedy made from the juices of roots, herbs, barks and leaves which act on the vital organs, toning them up so that they perform their duties as nature intends they should. That is why Drecto is so successful. Drecto acts on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and purifies the blood.

All good druggists now sell Drecto and it is highly recommended in Xenia by Soh's Drug Store.

MINE WAGE SCALE WILL BE TAKEN UP BY COMMISSION

Wilson Expected to Name Members of Commission This Week—Normal Industrial Situation in Sight.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Acting President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America, who is attending the labor reconstruction conference here, predicted that by tonight 95 per cent of the miners would be back to work. "Though it has been a difficult task to reach all of the men in the short time since the decision was reached," he said, "it is certain that they will go back."

Restrictions imposed on the use of fuel during the strike gradually are being removed under the discretionary authority to rescind such orders given regional railroad directors. Thus the working week opened with a nearer approach to a normal industrial situation than any week since the strike was made effective, Nov. 1.

Although most of the power to rescind the various restrictions has been placed in the hands of the regional directors, the railroad administration is continuing to exercise a supervisory control over bituminous coal and coke. This has been made necessary not alone by the resignation of Fuel Administrator Garfield, but also by the resignations of Cyrus Guernsey, Jr., assistant to Dr. Garfield, and John A. Alport, chief engineer, both of whom came back to Washington to serve with their chief when the fuel administration was revived. These resignations have practically put an end to the re-instituted activities of the administration.

Appointment by President Wilson of a commission to supersede the fuel administrator is expected this week. No intimations of the personnel have been given in official quarters, though the basis decided upon will make its composition include one mine worker, one coal mine operator and a representative of the public. The three will have power to readjust wage scales above the present advance given miners if desired, and also to advance the selling price of coal.

The scale committee of the operators of the central competitive field probably will meet in Cleveland Wednesday to consider their attitude toward the strike settlement.

RAILROADS ORDERED TO RELEASE COAL

Orders received by Freight Agent W. R. Torrence of the Pennsylvania Lines here Monday released conditionally the coal that the railroads have been holding up during the fuel shortage.

The conditions implied in the order are that if a dealer has a thirty days supply of coal unloaded in his yards that further coal shipped to him shall be held up and that if a manufacturer has more than a ten day's supply of fuel on hand that coal shipments to him shall also be held up.

This coal must eventually reach its destination however, and will be delivered as soon as the dealers or the manufacturers' supply goes below the minimum given.

This order relieves the possibility of a coal shortage for domestic purposes or an industrial shut-down here and there will be no danger from now on of railroads seizing and holding coal consigned to either manufacturers or dealers before it is delivered.

Old Masterpiece Has Local Appeal

UNION IS SOUGHT WITH FARMERS BY A.F.O.L. OFFICIALS

Federation's Co-operative Committee Appointed at Atlantic City Convention Meets at Capitol.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Another effort to establish relations with farmers' organizations is being made by the American Federation of Labor.

The federation's co-operative committee appointed at the Atlantic City convention is in conference here and met with the representatives of several farmers' groups.

In view of the declaration of principles adopted by the conference it was generally believed in labor quarters that the co-operation committee had made greater progress toward a common ground on which to meet the farmers' representatives than has any previous union group. Organized labor was declared by several spokesmen to be anxious to get organized farmers in the fold for the campaign which the workers plan to wage in the forthcoming election.

In this connection the statements made in the declaration, adopted by the conference, appealing to "all of those who contribute to society to unite in furtherance of the principles" were explained by labor leaders to mean that organized labor must be joined by the "producing classes if its victory is to be complete."

These leaders asserted that the problems faced by organized labor are much the problems of the agricultural class because they are both political and economic.

Perhaps every reader of the Gazette and Republican is familiar with the famous old picture "The Doctor," by Sir Luke Fields, which hangs in the National Gallery in London.

If so, is there one who has not felt a pang of sorrow when its full meaning dawned upon him?

The poor little lad, in the midst of poverty, propped up on an improvised cot, made from chairs and pillows, with the doctor helplessly awaiting the end, while father stands with set jaw and squared shoulders, gathering courage to meet the unbelievable fact that in some way, for some unaccountable reason his little one is leaving him forever, and the mother, lost in anguish, has left the little one's side, in utter despair.

Where did this happen—the picture

was finished, across the water, ages ago, but the incident has been repeating itself right here at home time after time, ever since.

Back in those days, the present day modern hospital was not known, but why, now, do we allow our very neighbors to experience this same ordeal and go without the necessary comforts of the sick room?

Perhaps your neighbor will be the next. Will you, with your vote Tuesday deprive him of what his country should give him—proper protection in the time of his greatest need—when his loved ones are hovering on the brink. Think what your vote may mean to the other people in this community. You are your brother's keeper. Forget your pocketbooks and vote right.

BLAKE BOY DEAD; MOTHER IS HELD FOR HIS MURDER

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 15.—The body of James M. Blake, Jr., 6-year-old son of a wealthy Philadelphia insurance broker, who was declared by his mother to have been kidnapped last Friday night, washed ashore at Ventnor yesterday. Mrs. Blake has been placed under arrest.

Mrs. Blake, who on Friday night crawled to the home of Benjamin Fox in Ventnor and told of being attacked by two negroes, who, after beating her, robbed her of a handbag and then fled with her child, is charged with the murder of the boy. She was removed to the Atlantic City hospital, where she is guarded by a policeman. She is said to be suffering from a nervous collapse.

The boy's body was found less than five blocks from the pier in Ventnor where Mrs. Blake's handbag was recovered and about the same distance from the scene of the alleged kidnapping. Mrs. Blake is said to have been suffering from a nervous ailment for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake have been estranged for some time. The boy and a 10-year-old daughter had been in the custody of their father and had been permitted to go out with their mother.

Coal Production Reaches 80 per Cent

Washington, Dec. 15.—Coal production will reach 80 per cent of normal today, it was announced today by the railroad administration after early reports had been received from the coal fields. In Kansas and Ohio alone the production is still considerably below normal and the situation is regarded as serious in these states.

The railroad administration today announced the lifting of restrictions on bunkering. The bunkering of ships was placed on a permit basis and coal will be issued to ships in the following order:

Inland and coastwise vessels, overseas vessels, foreign overseas vessels. This order will permit a number of foreign vessels which have been tied up for lack of fuel to sail.

DAVID GRIFFITH AND PARTY SAFE AFTER VOYAGE

Miami, Fla., Dec. 15.—The yacht Grey Duck, on which David W. Griffith, motion picture producer, and a party of 36 left here Wednesday, arrived last evening at Nassau, Bahamas Islands, with all on board safe, a radio message received by the Miami Herald from Nassau said.

The yacht, which was four days overdue on her arrival at Nassau, encountered heavy seas and members of the party had been without food for three days, the message said. Two passengers were swept overboard during the voyage, but were rescued. The message said the Grey Duck almost capsized and the pilot was injured, and others on board were forced to take their turn at the wheel while the little craft wallowed in the seas.

INJURED LINEMEN STILL IMPROVING

I. C. Shaw, Dayton Power and Light linemen injured when a pole on which he was working Thursday fell to the ground, causing him to sustain a fractured skull still continues to improve at the McClellan Hospital, according to Dr. W. A. Galloway, attending physician.

It is believed now that if he passes through the secondary effects following such accidents that he will recover, although he is not yet out of danger. Herbert Shaw, linemen for the same company, who was seriously burned by a high tension wire in Dayton, the same afternoon as the accident here, is also improving according to word from Miami Valley Hospital where the injured man is confined. There are sincere hopes now for his recovery.

SINGS NOW IN JAIL.

New York, Dec. 15.—His desire to show that he could "sing better than Caruso" landed Peter Johnson, a stone mason, in jail today. Johnson smashed a plate glass window in a music store by beating time with his arms.

CALL CHIEF'S HAND ON MEXICAN FUSS SEE INTERVENTION

Carranza Must Be "Spanked" is Opinion of Washington before Kidnapping and Lawlessness Can be Overcome.

Washington, Dec. 15.—President Wilson's hand may be forced by Carranza. He is known to be watching the Mexican situation with anxiety and the prediction is being freely made here that he must soon abandon his policy of "watchful waiting."

Congress is watching the border with blood in its eye. Senators and congressmen on both sides of the political fence openly express their opinion that Carranza needs to be spanked and are firm in the belief that unless this is done in some form or other and in drastic fashion, the present outburst of kidnappings, murders and property outrages, will go on, multiplying.

Despite the supposed attitude of President Wilson against intervention in Mexico, it is known he fully backed up Secretary Lansing in the latter's firm stand in the case of kidnapping, arrest and imprisonment of consular agent William O. Jenkins by the Mexican authorities of Puebla; and at one time in that affair the United States appeared within one ace of armed action. Even the president's critics admit that while he may not have been quick to leap into a fray he makes a thorough job of it when he leaps.

Significance is attached to the news that the department of justice is sending a number of special agents to the Mexican frontier, under John C. Suter, assistant to the chief of the bureau of investigation and charged with keeping the border country under close surveillance. Reports have reached Washington that almost anything may be expected in that vicinity and the administration no doubt wishes to have first hand information on all that goes on.

TRAINS ON LOCAL ROADS REINSTATED

The three trains removed from the schedule of the Pennsylvania lines, and the two trains taken off the Baltimore & Ohio schedule last week because of the coal shortage, were reinstated Monday by orders sent out over the divisions.

The settlement of the coal strike and the fact that the miners are now returning to work, was the cause of reinstatement of the train service and puts train service through here on both roads back on its original schedule.

NO CONCESSIONS WILL BE MADE BY WILSON IN THE TREATY FIGHT

President Places Blame On Senate and Says He Has no Compromise in Mind—Situation Believed to be Hopeless at Washington Today.

SENATE LEADERS ISSUE WARNING ON RAIL BILLS

Washington, Dec. 15.—Warning has been given by Republican leaders in the senate that failure to dispose of the railroad bill this week might force abandonment of plans for a holiday recess starting Dec. 20.

While strong opposition has developed to the pending measure, leaders claimed its ultimate passage was certain, even if with a narrow margin.

A resolution introduced by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, demands that the senate investigate reports that vast sums of money had been raised to help put the railroad measure through congress. Senator LaFollette had charged that the Railway Executives' association and other interests had provided funds for propaganda purposes. Senator Norris, who said the public had a right to know if sinister influences were trying secretly to bring about enactment of the Cummins bill, raised no objection to a proposal by Senator Pomerehne, Democrat, Ohio, that the senate-interstate commerce committee, to which the resolution was referred, also investigate reports that advocates of the Plumb plan for control had $4,000,000 to expend in an effort to force adoption by congress of the tripartite system they proposed.

The tripartite system was taken up today by the house postoffice committee in considering the bill of Representative Anthony, Republican, Kansas, to limit the size of newspapers and other periodicals.

Inquiry into treatment of radicals at Ellis Island was resumed by the house immigration committee, which has called A. W. Parker, former counsel for the immigration authorities. The committee possibly may hear Secretary Wilson and Immigration Commissioner Camipetti.

COURT DECIDES WAR MEASURE IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Washington, Dec. 15.—The United States supreme court today held the war time prohibition law constitutional.

The supreme court reversed the decision of the district court of Kentucky permitting the removal of whiskey from bond for beverage purposes. The decision of the New York court declaring the law constitutional was affirmed.

The court ruled that the war-time act was valid in its inception and that its validity has not been changed by any change of national condition.

The decision in the case was made on supreme court docket 602, affirming a lower court decision in the case known as "Alphonzo Dryfuss, Eugene Elum, Eugene Basche, of New York vs. William H. Edwards, collector of internal revenue." The case involved the right of Dryfuss to withdraw distilled spirits from bonded warehouses for beverage purposes.

EXTRA FARE TRAIN DELAYED BY WRECK

Pennsylvania passenger train No. 31 an extra fare through train to St. Louis was held up for three hours in this city Monday morning when the engine, tender and first trucks of the baggage car were derailed on the east end yards near the Ervin Bros. & Davis elevator.

The train is due in here at 7:54 in the morning and did not leave until eleven o'clock. The local wrecking crew pulled the trucks of the baggage coach back on the tracks, and the rest of the train was detoured around the engine, and a new engine supplied to take it on to St. Louis. Passengers on the train pay extra fare for quick non-stop service and the railroad pays a bonus for delays.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Declaring that he had "no compromise or concession of any kind in mind" and would make no move toward the peace treaty's disposition, President Wilson said he would continue to hold the Republican members of the senate responsible for results and conditions attending delay.

The president's position, regarded as peculiarly significant in view of the recent discussion in the senate of a compromise, was set forth in the following from the White House:

"It was learned from the highest authority at the executive offices that the hope of the Republican leaders of the senate that the president would presently make some move which will relieve the situation with regard to the treaty is without foundation; he has no compromise or concession of any kind in mind, but intends so far as he is concerned that the Republican leaders of the senate shall continue to bear the undivided responsibility for the fate of the treaty and the present condition of the world in consequence of that fate."

The White House statement apparently had no effect in changing the treaty situation. Democratic leaders, endorsing the president's views, declared that it did not preclude a senate compromise, and that compromise efforts would proceed. Republican leaders reiterated that the president was responsible for the present status and must make the first move toward a solution. Senators hoping to kill the treaty alone expressed satisfaction.

On one point only, apparently, were all senate factions in harmony—namely, that decisive action on the treaty probably would be deferred until next month, after the proposed holiday recess of congress, planned to end Jan. 5.

Senator Hitchcock, commenting on the White House statement, declared that the Democrats would continue efforts for compromising the reservations and that the senate and not the president must act first. "The president says the whole matter is in the hands of the senate, and I agree with him," said Mr. Hitchcock. He declared positively that the Democrats never would consent to ratification of the treaty without the league of nations and would not accept the plan offered by Senator Knox, Republican, Pennsylvania, to ratify the peace terms and leave the league question for decision by the voters.

Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican member of the foreign relations committee and prominent among the treaty's implacable foes, in a statement charged that large financial interests were engaged in propaganda favoring a senate compromise and also proposed to keep the treaty and the league from being passed on by the people during the ensuing presidential campaign.

ALLIES DRAFT NOTE TO THE EX-KAISER

London, Dec. 15.—The allies are understood to be drafting a joint note to Holland demanding the extradition of the ex-kaiser.

Sir Gordon Hewart, the attorney general of England, has now completed all the plans for the trial, it was learned today.

The trial of the former German emperor was one of the questions considered at the conference between Premier Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau.

What a pity she doesn't know Resinol Soap would improve her complexion

Remarks like the above are passed about many girls whose appearance would be most attractive were it not for a poor skin. RESINOL SOAP is just what such girls need to help in overcoming their complexion difficulties. It does more than remove dirt—it gets right after those clogged pores, and excessive oiliness, and it benefits the skin cells. When a little Resinol Ointment is used in connection with Resinol Soap, relief is hastened, and unless the trouble is due to some internal disorder, the complexion is usually cleared in a short time.

RESINOL SHAVING STICK is very popular with men who like the way the Resinol in it soothes the face.
Resinol products at all druggists.

There were four tables for bridge. After the games a delicious two course luncheon was served at the small tables. Pink roses were used to decorate the rooms, and the hostess presented some of the flowers to each of the honor guests. Besides those who played bridge a number of friends came, about twenty-five spending the afternoon.

PENNSY SIGNALMEN ELECT OFFICERS AT MEETING SUNDAY

The election of officers for the coming year and other business of importance was transacted at the annual meeting and banquet of the members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of the Cincinnati Division at the K. of P. hall here Sunday.

Bert L. Hughey, a signal inspector of this city was elected grand chief of the lodge for 1920, R. A. Jones of Loveland was elected first vice chief, R. C. McElfresh of Xenia was elected, second vice chief, P. B. Evers of Xenia was elected secretary and M. J. Cusack of Loveland was elected financial secretary. A number of other officers of lesser importance were also filled at the time.

A. J. Gibbons of the Chicago lodge, was present representing the chairman of the National Brotherhood and spoke to the signalmen following the delicious banquet which was served. A. L. Quist of Loveland retiring grand chief also spoke a few words and acted as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Quist is also assistant chairman of the South West system. There were thirty signalmen present at the meeting.

HOSPITAL SITE WILL BE IN HANDS OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES

There is much speculation as to the probable location of the proposed Greene County Memorial Hospital if the issue carries when voted on at the polls Tuesday. It is understood however that several sites are available and will likely be considered by the trustees if the issue passes. It is rumored in some of the county towns that they will make a bid for the institution, offering locations within their own boundaries. Two miles west of Xenia one location has been suggested, while another one mentioned as possible adjoins the city on the southeast.

What site will be finally chosen, however, will rest in the hands of the board of trustees which will be appointed by Governor Cox. This body will select the location, is understood on the merits of the several proposed sites, and will have absolute authority in choosing it.

SAYS CO. HOSPITAL WOULD BE A FITTING SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL

Men of Greene county, I appeal to your patriotism and your pride and submit to you that we cannot afford to let brave deeds and heroic acts go unmarked and forgotten, if we are a grateful people. In the last war when our sons were called, we rallied as one man, gave up our loved ones and seen to it that they had every comfort that a prosperous and loyal people could give. We did not stop to figure expense, or count our dollars. We met every call cheerfully and bountifully. The boys did their duty and were in at the death when the war was won. They came home proud of achievements to the hearts of a loving people. A grateful people will perpetuate their memory in an everlasting monument. The Memorial Hospital, a thing that stands out as fitting and appropriate a worthy tribute to all the heroes of the past, a bulwark for the perpetuation of Greene counties health and strong manhood. We did not go to war, we did not suffer in camp and firing line, we did not go into the hell of uncertainty and death. We stayed at home, secure in life and unmolested in all our pursuits.

Now what will we do Tuesday. Will we acquit ourselves like men and make it possible to perpetuate great deeds, at the same time safeguard life and health of the whole county? Or will we figure the dollar above all these things, and forget all the things that make us great. It is up to the voters. Do not shame this grand old county, by voting against the Memorial Bond issue.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN W. PRUGH,
Chairman Executive Committee
Greene County Memorial.

CITY FIREMAN L. A. MCKINNON FOR NERV-WORTH

Convincingly Reports That He Is Much Improved In Every Way

One of Sidney's best known and most highly esteemed citizens is the giver of the following statement. L. A. McKinnon has been a member of the city fire department for 20 years and what he says has weight and force.

Nerv-Worth Co.—I have used some of your Nerv-Worth and find it very beneficial. I had stomach trouble. Gas formed in my stomach causing much bloating. My blood circulation was bad and at times I had dizzy spells. Since using Nerv-Worth I am much improved in every way.

WHY USE WOOD?

SINCE Time began Man has been relentless in his effort to duplicate or better Nature's products, failing consistently in every attempt.

THE hewn log fresh from the forest was civilization's first abode and, refined through scientific processes, such has come down through the ages as LUMBER which, after all is said and done is the real building material today.

ITS flexibility is supreme, easily adapting itself to every possible design. It is the one material amply sufficient unto itself. A great Mormon temple stands today a monument to architectural achievement with not so much as a single nail in it.

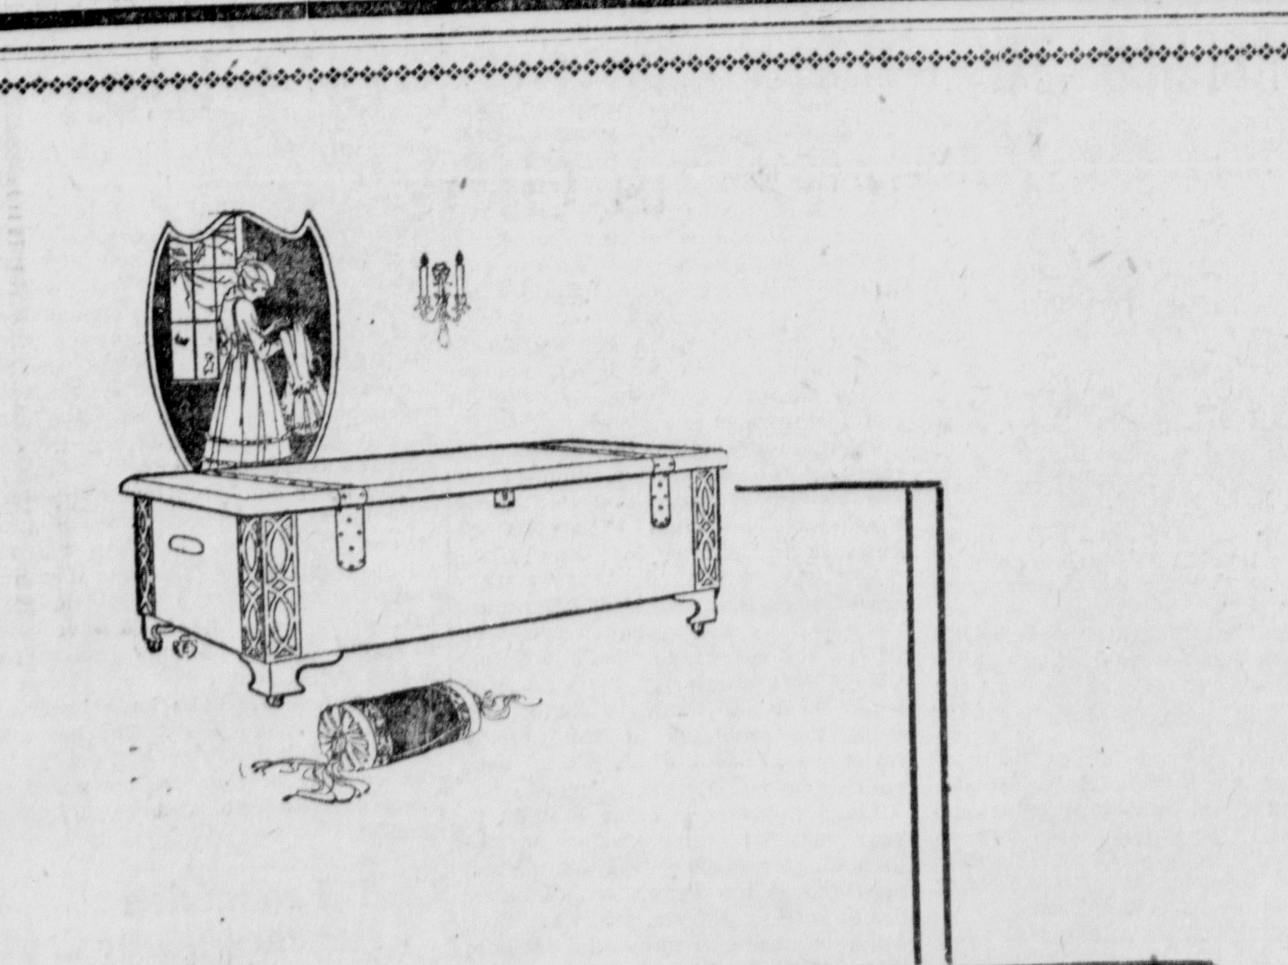

LUMBER is the inexorable foe of dampness and, as a consequence the safeguard of HEALTH IN THE HOME. Properly selected and correctly used with regard to exposure, its durability is at par with all other substitutes for building. Out in Dedham, Mass., there stands a house built 19 years ago and yet a comfortable dwelling.

REGARDLESS even of present prices lumber is today less expensive than all other building materials and comes to you as THE PROVEN GOODS, free from the hazard of experiment.

BUT it must be good lumber, lumber which meets every possible test. Scientifically selected, correctly sawed and dressed, GUARANTEED TO BE A STANDARD PRODUCT. "Perfect Quality" lumber meets all requirements. We handle this kind. Every stick just as represented; every grade true to form.

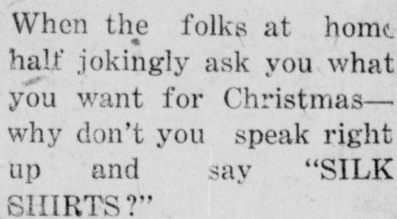

YOUR building plans will not be complete until you ascertain what we have to offer. We're specialists in the lumber game. We do not stop with the sale. We go further with our SERVICE which contemplates continuous assistance with plans, suggestions and money-saving effort until your job is done. Try us.

MAJOR GENERAL WOOD'S CANDIDACY.

The managers of Major General Leonard Wood have decided to bring Mahomet to the mountain. A few days in Washington and they were convinced that the party leaders in the East are more favorable to either Senator Harding or Governor Lowden for the Republican nomination for the Presidency than to their candidate. They are assured of their strength in the Middle West, and they are ready to start their campaign in the East. They realize they have some hard fighting ahead, but they are enthusiastic and optimistic.

Formal announcement of General Wood's candidacy is expected within a few weeks. It is thought that he will declare himself before January 1 in order to meet the requirements of the South Dakota presidential preference law which requires candidates to announce themselves and their platforms on or before that date in order to be voted for in the primaries.

Colonel William L. Proctor, of Cincinnati, went to Washington to confer with national leaders of the party. He has been selected as General Wood's campaign manager. There is to be no "closed season" in the Wood hunt for the nomination until the will of the convention is announced next June.

Colonel Proctor conferred with Frank T. King, of Connecticut, who has been directing the Wood campaign and it was decided to open national headquarters at an early date.

General Wood is a great man. His service in the Spanish-American War will not soon be forgotten by Americans. And anybody who has been to Havana, Cuba, will bear testimony to the indubitable evidence presented there of his marvelous executive ability in cleaning up that great city and giving to it wonderful improvements of which they are very proud. No name is more canonized in Havana than that of Leonard Wood, for the marvelous transformation he wrought there while Military Governor of Cuba after the war.

There has been some criticism of General Wood for a phrase he used in an address he recently made at Williams College, saying, "Avoid internationalism as you would death." We have not seen any explanation from him of just what he meant in the expression, but in view of the existing national discussion of the League of Nations some have inferred that he is opposed to it, and that that is what he meant. We hope not.

Many of those who oppose the League of Nations base much stress for their position on the language in Washington's Farewell Address where he cautions us to beware of "entangling alliances" with foreign nations. We have just re-read this famous document, and we think he referred to our taking sides with any particular nation as against another—for he speaks of "partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another"—says we should be impartial or in other words neutral.

We are sure if George Washington had been alive during the late war he would have been among the first to urge our entrance into it. Self-protection is implanted by God in the human breast—so when a barbarous nation with which we were on good terms, and against which we had not lifted a hand, sunk the Lusitania, and sent to death hundreds of our citizens, there was nothing left for us to do in self-defense than resent the insult. We would be a nation of poltroons if we had not done so.

Think of the George Washington of Valley Forge—and can you think of him, if alive after the sinking of the Lusitania, as being neutral.

THE DEADLIEST EPIDEMIC.

A well known medical authority says that influenza is "a more fatal infection than smallpox." He argues accordingly for thorough isolation of influenza patients, following the same method that is practiced as a matter of course with smallpox cases.

A good test of this method was made last winter in Buffalo. That city fought the flu by closing all its schools, church, theaters and other public places, by using vaccines, and by insisting on the wearing of gauze masks. These precautions were put in force in the early stages of the epidemic. As a result, it never became a very serious epidemic in Buffalo. That city suffered far less in proportion to population than the majority of American cities, where rigid isolation and other scientific regulations were not adopted.

A repetition of last year's epidemic has been feared for this winter. It has not yet developed alarmingly anywhere, but there have been many disquieting appearances of the disease. Manifestly, the only sensible thing to do, wherever it breaks out, is to recognize influenza for what it is—a disease as deadly as any epidemic to which the modern world is subject—and treat it accordingly.

REPRESENTATIVE FAVORS FABRIC LAW IN LETTER

A national pure fabric law is favored by Senators Harding and Pomerehne and Representative S. D. Fess.

In letters which were written to the Greene County Sheep and Wool Growers Association, and which were read at the annual meeting of that organization Saturday afternoon, the statesmen said they could heartily endorse and would support such a measure. Their feelings regarding the matter were sought by President J. C. Williamson of the Greene County Sheep and Wool Growers' Association and County Farm Agent Ford S. Prince.

The local organization will unite with the Ohio and The National Sheep and Wool Growers' Association in backing such a measure. Such a law would compel manufacturers to label clothing or cloth as to the amount of wool, cotton or "shoddy," that it contains "shoddy," is worked over wool, in which the fabric is short and does not have the wearing quality of good wool.

R. A. Hammond of Columbus, who had charge of all wool which was handled and sold in Columbus last summer, addressed the local sheep and wool men at Saturday's meeting. This wool was handled through the Ohio Sheep and Wool Growers' Association, and was sold by it for the growers, direct to the manufacturers, eliminating the commission man. The farmer paid the low rate of five and one-half per cent for having his wool handled, graded and sold.

Mr. Hammond explained that every fleece was graded placed in its proper grade and sold upon its merits. He explained the different grades, the manner in which the wool is graded, and the manner in which it is tied up and bagged. He answered many questions which were put to him by the members.

J. C. Williamson was re-elected chairman of the Greene county association. The secretarial work will be handled through the Greene County Farm Bureau.

The chairman will appoint an executive committee later.

There are 96 members of the association and about 40 were present at Saturday's meeting.

It is estimated that there are 258 farmers in the county who own more than 15 sheep, and it is the intention of the association to make an effort to get most of them into the association.

While only 40,000 pounds of wool was handled in Columbus for the members of the local association this year, all of it was of excellent quality. Columbus handled two and a half million pounds, of fleeces for Ohio wool growers this year.

To Renovate Old Oil Paintings.

When old oil paintings have become dark and cracked they may be made to look like new by the following process, says the Illustrated World: Pour alcohol in a dish and put the picture over it, face downward. The fumes of the alcohol dissolve the paint of the picture, the cracks close up and the color becomes more fresh. Caution is absolutely necessary, as the paint may become so soft as to run together, thus spoiling the whole picture.

MAGIC AMUSES MANY AT THEATER FRIDAY

Regular old time magic of the "rab-it in the hat" sort, amused an audience at the opera house Friday night when the "Great Herrmann" appeared with his troupe of minstrel singers and dancers.

Herrmann himself was the big feature of the program and his magic tricks and his repertoire of new magic was interesting as well as amusing. The minstrel part was a lively change from the magic acts and Rose Washburn, Billy Heins and the Miller orchestra were exceedingly popular in this part.

The Integrated Goat.

The story of the Integrated Goat concerns the man who had a lawn to cut and no lawnmower. He was too poor to buy a lawnmower, so he bought a goat. The goat saved him the labor by eating the grass, produced special milk for the baby, fertilized the lawn and ate a few tin cans on the side. That is a crude case of integrated effort. We pay tribute to the wisdom of this sort of effort in our popular proverb, "Killing two birds with one stone." This is also a crude figure. Real scientific integrated effort would require that we kill ten birds with one stone and get the stone back.—From the Nation's Business.

Saving Coal Saves Money

And Helps The Nation

There's a wealth of proof to show that your home may be thoroughly comfortable at a third or a half less fuel than you have been using. The Caloric Pipeless Furnace is a remarkable fuel conserver. Many say it saves half. Here is just one sample letter taken at random out of thousands which the manufacturers receive from pleased Caloric owners:

"I am heating very comfortably seven rooms and not using any more fuel than I did with a double heater, heating only two rooms."—P. S. BURT.

Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

Over fifty thousand homes, many of them in this state, have found this furnace the economical, common-sense method of keeping comfortable. They bought on a guarantee of real fuel saving and perfect satisfaction, and the Caloric made good.

One register delivers all the heat from the fuel directly into your living rooms and draws out the cold air, insuring an abundance of balmy, moist warmth right where you want it. The cellar is just right for the storage of perishable products.

The Caloric can be installed in a day. It is a triumph of engineering skill that embodies many patented features which have made it the leader and which are not found in imitations. Come in and see this wonderful furnace. We will tell you frankly whether it is adapted to your home. If we say it is, we will give you our personal guarantee that it will make good or we will take it out. Come in and talk it over.

YE IRON FENCE AROUND LAWNS WHERE IS IT?

The passing of the iron fence!

Like fifteen cent eggs, Kaisers, flow moustaches, and the amber colored brew, it has been relegated to live only in the pages of history.

It does not require an ancient patriarch to remember when the front yard fence was a "thing of beauty and a joy forever." In those days, like babies, bacteria and celluloid collars, everybody had 'em.

Where was the imposing residence with its imposing lawn, that did not boast its boundary fence and its iron deer. It seems that they were a common disease brought on by prosperity, the same as pewter tea sets, coaches and furs, and like monstrosities of a forgotten age.

Yet now but few lawns cling to the boundary fence. Forbidding they were for they gave to the house and grounds an air of assured snobbishness, a sort of aloofness, that seemed to be essential in those days to impart the real aristocratic flavor to the residence of the rich.

And even the County Court house was not spared a fence. The ancient edifice that once stood on the spot the new and imposing building now graces, shielded itself with a wall and iron rail fence. Its purpose 'twas said was to keep the loafers away and avoid the inevitable tramping upon the neatly trimmed greensward. Yet it served an opposite purpose, for its funny railings proved a most comfortable roosting place for the floating public and the grass suffered in ratio. But withal, the boundary fence served a noble purpose.

Many a neighborhood brawl in the old days was spared the "neighborhood housewife, and many a case that thrusts its sordid if amusing tale into police court would never have seen the light of day, had it been fostered during an earlier regime amid the surroundings of the late lamented iron fence.

For kids were kids then the same as now, and the neighbor's flowers were never up-rooted or your own potato vines trampled underfoot, because of the forbidding fence with its silent yet none the less stalwart protection.

Ask the county or city surveyor who found the greater part of his time involved in settling boundary disputes. The iron fence, the front yard boundary fence, settled for once and for all the petty boundary disputes in the old days. Now it is different.

So all hail to the fence—its beauty was questionable yet it served a noble purpose.

Chinese Calligraphy.

The Chinese, according to a Canton paper, recognize the extreme complexity of their written language. About 20 years ago, in the days of the empress dowager, a scholar and reformer named Wang Chao, who held the highest obtainable literary degree, conceived the idea of a simplified form of Chinese writing. He invented a phonetic system of symbols, which was promptly branded revolutionary and suppressed, while its "radical" author was banished. Later, however, the idea has been introduced, and the government has tried a system of the same kind, but more complicated, without much success. Two missionaries of Tsang-chow have fared better in an effort to revive Wang Chao's phonetic script, which is based on the fact that, although the number of characters is vast, there are only 318 "word-sounds" in the Chinese language.

Government and City Health
Officials Warn People to
Keep Clean.

Stay Away from People with
Coughs and Colds.

"Avoid crowds if you want to avoid influenza," says Association for Improving the Conditions of New York.

Keep your hands clean, drink plenty of fresh water; sleep with windows open; eat three uniform meals a day including a good breakfast.

People who have catarrh or frequent colds invite influenza, declares a prominent Kentucky druggist.

The membrane of the throat and nose is raw, sore and tender, and makes a lovely abiding place for germs to thrive and multiply.

He advises an inexpensive home-made remedy that will bring relief in less than a day and will stop all discharge and soothe and heal the inflamed membrane in a few days. Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Pour three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and sniff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat clean and healthy.

Nearly all druggists dispense Mentholized Arcine in vials containing exactly three-quarters of an ounce, which is all you need to make a pint of this healthful medicine.

A Fair Substitute

By ALVAH JORDAN GARTH

(Copyright, 1918, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

It had been a matter of pride to Bertha Lull when she married Alvin Price that he was a very handsome man of winning and agreeable manners. Every friend and acquaintance he made became an admirer. Blanche Vansant had tried her coquettish wiles, but Alvin was neither flirt nor trifle and when he married another there was a certain tinge of envy and jealousy.

Alvin was a traveling salesman for a large wholesale millinery house and had an established clientele. His route did not take him out of the state, and he never missed coming home Saturdays until he was expected by his firm to make a special rush trip covering his entire route within a month, to place a new hat braid that had arrived late and would be out of vogue with the end of the season.

Bertha and Blanche had always been good friends and the former was glad to have her old time school friend spend all the time she could spare in her company.

"I should not like to have a traveling man for a husband," said Blanche, "and particularly as handsome a one as Alvin. I always frankly considered that he was irresistible."

"Why, you ridiculous pessimist!" laughed Bertha. "Do you suppose Alvin ever even thinks of anybody but me?"

"He shouldn't, I'll admit," answered Blanche, "for you are a perfect little jewel of beauty and duty, but Alvin also attracts attention, and my cousin who visited us last week and who knows Alvin, says that among the roadmen not one of them dares to aspire to the marked partiality of the ladies as does Alvin, and that he is such a favorite that many of them won't give their trade to anybody else."

"Why, bless you! Blanche," observed Bertha artlessly, "how can the dear creatures help it? Was there ever such a genial, accommodating and helpful a fellow in the world?"

A week later a casual remark of Blanche set Bertha thinking and worrying. She repeated something her cousin had said about a Mrs. Adams, a milliner at Glenville. A fellow roadman had told of how Alvin would go out of his way to visit the lady, and that it was a subject of gay badinage among other salesmen. Alvin came back home several days sooner than expected. Then all was forgotten with Bertha's solicitude and tenderness.

"I'm about done out with my long jaunt," Alvin told her. "Was laid up with a slight fever for two days. Doctor said I was due home for a rest. Too bad, for I had finished my entire route except six little towns down in Walden county. Bertha, dear, I want you to write a little for me to the house, explaining that I laid up for a spell, but covered everything but the towns marked on this list," and he handed Bertha a written sheet. She started and flushed as she read among them that of Glenville, the town where Mrs. Adams did business.

"Alvin," she said, "will it take much time or work to go to these places and see your customers?"

"Very little of either," replied Alvin, "for they are among my surest clients."

"Then," said Bertha with animation, "why not let me take your place and finish the trip? Give me the samples and instructions. You will be proud to find out what an eager little business woman I am."

Alvin demurred, but Bertha finally overcame his scruples. She felt secretly guilty as she found herself on a train, for she realized that her main purpose was to see some of those "impressible milliners" with whom Alvin was such a favorite and the sting of Blanche Vansant's unkind insinuation smarted yet.

Elmore was the first town Bertha visited. It had but one milliner and as Bertha entered her store the woman stared at her fixedly.

"Why, you must be Mrs. Price!" she exclaimed.

"How did you know that," questioned Bertha in amazement.

"Because you just placed Mr. Price's sample case on the counter, and the number of times that proud husband of yours has shown his customers your picture in the back of his watch couldn't be counted."

Bertha went to the next town, Glenville, with her heart cheered and comforted. Still, she entered the store of Mrs. Adams all agitated. A middle aged woman sat sewing on a hat.

"Are you Mrs. Adams?" inquired Bertha.

"Oh, no, I am her daughter. Mother, someone wishes to see you."

A woman gray-haired and bent and wrinkled appeared. She scanned Bertha curiously, recognizing her instantly. The moment Bertha told her mission the old lady folded her in her motherly arms.

"You are welcome as the flowers in spring, you sweet love!" she spoke, kissing Bertha rapturously. "Has that dear, good husband of yours told you how he saved me from losing all I had, and comes clear out of his way to look over my books and help me along?"

Humbled, repentant, loving and trusting her husband more than she ever had done, Bertha returned home with order book and heart full to repletion.

Hard on the Trousers.

Though the wonderful mechanism of an artificial leg is of enormous value to those who are obliged to wear it, there is one very serious item to be reckoned with, and that is its tendency to create a big bill for trousers. An officer recently exhibited a tear in his trouser leg caused by some part of the mechanical joint catching in the cloth, and the daily task of pushing the artificial leg into the trousers wears them out in other directions all too soon in these days of costly tailoring.

MOTHERS OF OHIO

Conneaut, Ohio.—Always during expectancy I would become so lame that I would be bedfast, my back would be so stiff that I could not move by myself. I tried various medicines but not until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did I get relief. I consider 'Favorite Prescription' a perfect tonic for the expectant mother, for it not only strengthened me and relieved me of all pain and lameness but I had comparatively no suffering, and my babies were hardy and strong—absolutely perfect—mentally and physically, which I considered due to the fact that the tonic I took, 'Favorite Prescription,' contained no harmful ingredient."—Mrs. FRANK LUCE.

Elyria, Ohio.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an excellent medicine for prospective mothers. It is good to take all during the period and if more women would take it there would be more healthy babies and the mothers' own health would be so much better, too. At one time I was miserable, suffered with sick stomach, could not eat anything and retain it, and I was not feeling good in any way when I began taking the 'Prescription.' It soon stopped the nausea and kept me feeling fine right up to the last, I had practically no suffering, and my baby was strong and healthy."

"I have thought so well of 'Favorite Prescription' ever since that I am always recommending it to my friends and all who have taken it agree with me that it is the very best woman's medicine there is."—Mrs. W. H. Woodford, 115 Fairlawn Ave.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. Druggists sell it in liquid or tablets. Send 10 cents to the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

Nos. 315 to 325 inclusive, aggregating $11,000.00, Jan. 1st, 1950.

Said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, as evidenced by the interest coupons, to be attached thereto, and shall be payable at The Citizens National Bank in the City of Xenia, Ohio.

SECTION 2. Said bonds shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued, and that they are issued in pursuance to this ordinance. They shall be prepared, issued and delivered under the direction of the City Commission and the City Auditor, and shall be signed by the Mayor and Auditor of the said City, respectively, and sealed with the corporate seal of said City; the interest coupons attached to said bonds, shall be executed by the City Auditor with his signature thereto or he may have his signature printed or lithographed thereon.

SECTION 3. Said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund in their official capacity, and if said Sinking Fund Trustees refuse to take any or all of said bonds at par and accrued interest, then said bond not so taken, shall be offered at par and accrued interest to the Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of the City School District, and then such of said bonds as are not so taken, shall be offered at par and accrued interest to The Industrial Commission of Ohio, and then such of said bonds as are not so taken, shall be advertised for public sale, and sold in the manner provided by law, but not for less than par and accrued interest.

SECTION 4. The proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premiums and accrued interest thereon, shall be placed in the City Treasury to the credit of "The Xenia Water Company Purchase and Extension Fund," and shall be disbursed upon proper vouchers for the purchase and extension as aforesaid, and for no other purpose; the premiums and accrued interest received from the sale of said bonds, shall be transferred to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund to be applied by them in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 5. There shall be levied and collected annually during the period for which said bonds have to run by taxation on all taxable property on the tax duplicate of the City of Xenia, Ohio, an amount sufficient to pay the interest thereon as herein provided, and to provide a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds at maturity, provided that the amount of such annual levy shall be such as to provide for and make up any deficiency in the revenues of the said City of Xenia, Ohio, available for the payments of such interest and the creation of such sinking fund for the revenues and the proceeds derived from the operation of said water works plant, or otherwise; and the proper taxing authorities shall compute the amount of such general tax levies and certify the same for collection as other taxes are certified and collected.

SECTION 6. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law. Passed this 11th day of December, 1919.

Monday Evening—North side at the home of Mrs. Howard Jones, North Galloway street, leaders, Mrs. H. Jones and Mrs. M. Collins. Speaker, Mrs. Lulu C. Quisenberry.

Tuesday Evening—Orient Hill, at the home of Mrs. A. J. Wilson, South Columbus street, leaders Miss Anna Norckauer and Miss Ruth Maley. Speaker, the pastor.

Wednesday Evening—At the church. The pastor will give a survey talk on Assurance.

Thursday Evening—Spring Hill, at the home of Mrs. Albert Oglesbee, leaders, Mrs. A. Oglesbee and Mrs. Carl Van Horn. Speaker, the pastor.

Friday Evening—West end, at the home of Mrs. Robert Fuller, West end street, leaders, Miss Harriette McCarty and Mrs. Carey Dunham. Speaker, Mrs. L. C. Quisenberry.

Meetings will begin at 7:15 p. m. The families are urged to be present and the public is cordially invited. The week's program will have as its initial feature the presence next Sunday morning at the church of Rev. H. E. Dudley, of Burma, who will describe his work and its conquests. He will speak to the Sunday school and church congregation.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

Editor Gazette and Republican:

Under the caption: "Warm contribution to 'our' hospital," a soldier, who fails to give his name makes an unwholesome and thoroughly prejudiced attack in the last issue of a county paper upon the proposed Greene County Memorial Hospital.

Hiding safely behind the nom de plume "A. E. F. Inclusive," he flagrantly flays the good people behind the movement for a hospital, hinting at graft, assailing the project as attempting to succeed by using the prestige of a "memorial for the soldiers" and stating broadly that the soldier vote will not be behind the movement.

The letter, on its face, is a deliberate, one-sided attempt, to throw a monkey-wrench into the machinery of a project that is so big and so general in its far-reaching service, that in itself it belittles the smallness of the voter who would attempt to stand in its path.

The writer also takes the opportunity of encroaching upon the generosity of the public press by shamefully attacking the physicians of the county who are furthering the movement, a profession that during the late unpleasantness has covered itself with glory, and whose members have braved death in the same camps and on the same battlefields that the letter refers to, in an attempt too save the lives of the soldiers, a matter the writer seems to hold lightly. No Americans acquitted themselves more honorably in their efforts whether at home or abroad, than did the medical fraternity.

While it may be true that soldiers no more than any one else are "given to admiring last resting places and graveyards, and their monuments, or even hospitals, the home of the sick and the dying," still all the arts of modern science have failed to reveal a way to avoid having such institutions, and yet modern science has taught that the institution of such hospitals in the attempt to fight disease and death from injury, has greatly reduced the amount of these distressing things that are going on the world.

As for the fact that the miseries of sickness, disease and injury have been more closely brought home to the soldier than to any one else, should convince them of the need of a hospital and the good it can accomplish. At a meeting of the executive committee of Joseph P. Foody, Post 95, of the American Legion here, the movement for a hospital was heartily endorsed and it is believed that in the main, the men who were in the service all over the county are back of the project.

I take it also that "A. E. F. Inclusive," while he makes use of a rather broad sounding title, represents perhaps only a few, while the Memorial Hospital is designed to be a living and lasting memorial to the soldiers of Greene county of every war from the Revolutionary to the late World War. Its purpose also is to commemorate the pioneers of the county who did much to make this locality a good place to live in before

IF MOTHERS ONLY KNEW

During these days how many children are complaining of headache, feverishness, stomach troubles and irregular bowels. If mothers only knew what Mother Gray's Sweet Powders would do for their children, no family would ever be without them. These powders are so easy and pleasant to take and so effective in their action that mothers who once use them always tell other mothers about them. Sold by druggists everywhere.

"A. E. F. Inclusive" ever saw the light of day.

In hinting at graft behind the project for a hospital, "A. E. F. Inclusive" is assailing the honesty and integrity of men who have been in the van of progress in this county for years. He is maliciously attacking the reputation of citizens, who have the interests of the community at heart and in assailing the medical fraternity, he is attacking men who while he was in the service, were going to untold ends in their endeavor to assist the government in bringing a successful victory and an unalloyed peace to the world.

Quoting Dr. Frank Garland, head of the welfare department of Dayton, and a man thoroughly in touch with the service rendered by the public hospital, "the man should have his head examined who would vote against a proposition of this nature."

But fortunately the right-minded people of Greene county, the thinking people who have studied the possibilities and the need of a hospital here, not only for the service it renders its patients, but the development and the opportunity it affords in the well-organized fight of disease, will lay little stress on the flamboyant and absurd communication from "A. E. F. Inclusive."

In fact, even if the contributor's viewpoint is really sincere, his crude effort to excite sentiment against the project is considerably more likely to take the shape of a boomerang and result in an opposite effect from what he hopes.

COST OF HOSPITAL TO TAX PAYER IS BUT FEW CENTS YEAR

The cost of the proposed Greene County Memorial Hospital in dollars and cents to the taxpayer is 3 1/2 cents semi-annually on every $100 worth of taxable property. In other words, a property valuation of $1000 would mean a semi-annual cost of 35 cents, while on $10,000 the cost would only be $3.50. As pointed out by those interested in the hospital, this represents but a small investment in a means of life insurance that is worth several times this amount to the beneficiary.

With a crying need existing in Greene County for an adequate hospital the question of the bond issue for the proposed County Memorial Hospital appeals to the common sense of every voter in the county.

The parties interested in the promotion of the hospital bond issue are asking no more from the people of Greene County than is the custom in any other community. Other communities seeing the need of adequate facilities for taking care of the sick and injured, have long since waved aside personal prejudices and voted for the establishment of such hospitals.

11 HENS IDLE; NOW LAY 221 EGGS A MONTH

Mrs. Young Almost Gave Up Raising Chickens. Then She Tried this Plan.

"When I accepted your offer and tried Don Sung, I had been getting 1 or 2 eggs every other day. The next month, using 50 cents worth of Don Sung, my 11 hens laid 221 eggs. I almost gave up raising chickens, but now I have decided to raise as many as I can."—Mrs. F. C. Young, Bellefonte, Pa.

Feed is too expensive to waste on idle hens. You can easily start your hens laying and keep them laying, even in coldest winter. To prove it, all you need do is accept our offer, as Mrs. Young did.

Give your hens Don Sung and water, results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs, and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her more active in any weather, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Dunster Co., 28 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

built into it the best ingenuity known to the phonograph world. The Ultona plays all records truer, finer, sweeter. It is not a makeshift contrivance. A slight turn of the hand presents the right needle, diaphragm and weight for playing any record.

The Tone Amplifier is an oval shaped vibrant tone chamber. Like the sounding board of a fine piano or violin, it is made entirely of wood and free from metal.

One hearing of The Brunswick will cause you to discard the standards of yesterday in judging phonographs. You can easily verify those claims. A call will permit us to play your favorite record.

CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON IS MAKING STEPS

Washington, Dec. 13.—President Wilson's industrial conference, working steadily and quietly is "making progress." This report was made today by the White House after a preliminary report of the workings of the conference had been made to the president.

A very definite program for the settlement of industrial unrest has been tentatively formulated it was stated, and there is every indication that it will furnish the basis for a real working arrangement which will wipe out some of the difference between capital and labor.

The conference is somewhat hampered for lack of funds, it was stated, and the sessions may have to be cut short if congress does not make an appropriation for the expenses of the conference members.

Washington, Dec. 13.—"The men will be back in the mines by Monday," declared John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, today, arriving at the American Federation of Labor headquarters to attend the labor conference.

"We have full faith in the president," said Lewis. "His commission, we expect, will settle all of the difficulties and work out a whole program of adjustment."

"Everything now awaits the appointment of the commission by the president but the men are returning to their work and will all be back by Monday."

The commission to be named by the president will not be appointed before next Monday, it was stated at the White House. The commission has been tentatively selected by the president, it was stated.

The president is awaiting full compliance with the terms of the settlement agreement before taking any steps to set the commission in operation.

"Restoring" Diamonds.
The operation of restoring defective diamonds seems to be still practiced in Brazil, and this process of "diamond burning" has been imparted to Chambers Journal by a recent traveler. A crucible being heated cherry red on a blacksmith's hearth, the flawed or lusterless diamonds are dropped into it with a spoon. Charcoal is then heaped upon the fire, and a blast raises the temperature to welding point, maintaining it three minutes. The crucible being then taken off for inspection of its contents it is after this returned for a minute and a half more. It is then taken from the fire, and a teaspoonful of potassium nitrate is thrown into it and well shaken. When the vapor has disappeared the diamonds are dropped singly into a basin of water. The improvement of the stones is said to nearly double their value and their loss in weight is little more than eight per cent.

Arsenic in Coal.
Poisoning by arsenic in coal, lately announced to the French Academy of Sciences by Charles Richet, seems to be of somewhat frequent occurrence. A serious outbreak of so-called pitch disease occurred at a briquette factory, and the symptoms in many of the employees included cutaneous cancer, which proved fatal in some cases. Chemical analysis showed that arsenic was contained in the pitch used. It was also found in dust of the factory, in the hair of the workers and even in the blood of nearly all, clearly showing that the men were being poisoned. This arsenic must have been derived from the coal supplying the pitch. Certain kinds of coal have been known to contain arsenical pyrites in considerable amount, and investigation brings to notice other workers in coal products who have similar symptoms, such as tar distillers, road asphaltes, makers of tarred paper and makers of lampblack.

Thinking of Prices.
The Parson—"And you say your wife was thinking of women's hats all the time she was at church, Sunday?"
The Deacon—"I'm afraid she was, parson." "I'm so sorry. Her mind should have been on higher things." "Gee, guess! Parson! Are there any higher things than women's hats?"

CAMBRIDGE LADY SPENT SIX WEEKS IN A HOSPITAL

Was operated on for Tumor; been treated by best physicians in county, but seemed no one understood her case.

Has taken two bottles of Drecto and declares she is regaining her health very fast. Weight increased six pounds.

"I spent six weeks in a hospital and underwent an operation to remove two tumors; have had the best medical treatment that money could procure, but I did not seem to regain my health," writes Mrs. Clyde Stewart, of Route 7, Cambridge, O.

"I read about a Zanesville man who got such great relief from the new medicine, Drecto, so I bought two bottles of it and started the treatment. Those two bottles of Drecto have done me more good than anything else I ever did. I have a good appetite now; sleep sound; have gained six pounds in weight. Drecto has been such a help to me after those years of suffering that I ought to tell some suffering person to use this grand medicine."

There are many cases on record where Drecto has helped sick and suffering persons after all means had been exhausted. While Drecto is not a "cure-all" by any means, it is a plain, common-sense remedy made from the juices of roots, herbs, bark and leaves which act on the vital organs, toning them up so that they perform their duties as nature intends they should. That is why Drecto is so successful. Drecto acts on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and purifies the blood.

All good druggists now sell Drecto and it is highly recommended in Xenia by Soler's Drug Store.

EAST END NEWS

Mrs. Eliza Euell has been confined to her bed, under the care of the doctor since last week, suffering with a nervous shock, over the death of her son Dean Euell.

Funeral services of Dean Euell were held at East Main street Christian church Friday at 1:30 p. m. The services were conducted by Rev. Beeton, who spoke words of sympathy. The choir rendered beautiful selections. Interment was in Cherry Grove cemetery.

The vestry choir of St. John's A. M. E. church will render a Christmas cantata next Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. Ophelia C. Rogers, Chorister. The music will be played by Miss Helen W. Ferguson, pianist. The name of the cantata is "The Christ Child." Text by Rene Bronner and the music was written by H. W. Petrie. It is a beautiful cantata and gives opportunity for a good deal of individual work. This choir is fortunate in having two excellent pianists in it, the person of Miss Helen W. Ferguson and Miss Emily H. Pitts, and with their aid have been doing some strenuous practicing. They extend an invitation to the music loving public and no doubt will attract a large audience as they do on these special occasions.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Washington, of South Bend, Ind., are visiting her son, Mr. Harry Vaughn and wife, of East Church street.

Mrs. Mary Jenkins, wife of Mr. Luther Jenkins, died at her home on East Market street Saturday morning about 2 a. m., following an illness with tonsillitis since last Wednesday. She was able to be out on Tuesday and took sick on Wednesday. The illness noticeably affected her heart but she was thought not to be dangerously ill. Beside her husband, she leaves two daughters and one son, their ages ranging two, four and seven years. This family came here a few months ago for the purpose of locating and educating their children. They had arranged to buy a piece of property on last Saturday morning. The remains will be shipped to her former home in Kentucky today for burial.

St. John's A. M. E. choir will practice Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights at the residence of Mr. Nelson Corbin. They will practice Wednesday night at the church. It is desired that the full membership attend all of these practices.

The World famous Williams Jubilee Singers arrived from Cincinnati this morning and will give an entertainment at the Xenia opera house tonight under the auspices of St. John's A. M. E. church. They have new artists and a new program.

The N. A. A. C. P. held an interesting session at First A. M. E. church Sunday afternoon. The meeting was addressed by Dr. W. A. Galloway, in behalf of the proposed Memorial Hospital. The association was reorganized by electing Rev. P. A. Nichols president, Miss Rilda Phelps, secretary, Mrs. Edna Woodson, Cor. Sec. and R. J. Watkins, Treasurer.

Mrs. Rebecca Connors is confined to the house suffering with a severe case of malarial grip.

NEW FIRE AUTO . ARRIVES HERE THIS MORNING

The new triple combination auto fire truck, purchased some time ago by the city, arrived here Monday morning, and will be added to the equipment of the Xenia Fire Department.

The new fire truck is manufactured by the White Company of Cleveland, and is multiple in its service, carrying a combination engine and pump, hose, ladders, and chemicals. An inspector from the company is expected from Cincinnati Monday to unload the piece.

With the fire truck now in use some time ago, the fire department is well motorized, having two combination pieces that will be ample in taking care of all fires. Besides the motorized equipment the city retains its ladder wagon which will not be necessary to make a run unless the fire is in a downtown building and is very far advanced, the ladders on the motor pieces being well able to take care of the smaller fires.

The new pieces makes the equipment of the local department one of the best and most efficient in any city of this size.

CENSUS ENUMERATOR IS NO SOFT SNAP NOW

"Wow!" said the census taker, as he sat down to mop his brow and rest his feet after an exceedingly hard day tramping over the city.

"When I had this ward to cover ten years ago it was a soft proposition, but this darned extension of city limits has converted my position from a soft snap to regular work."

Back in 1910 a first-class census taker could cover his territory and register up all the people living in his district in no time. Of course with the government shelling out a good six bucks a day for this sort of work, there wasn't any of them rushing the job through to any extent, but at least they then had time to do quite a bit of stalling on the job.

However, it will be quite a different proposition when the census takers start out in Xenia for the 1920 census. For this hard working individual is going to find that joggling off the names of some 8,000 souls somewhat easier than tackling a proposition of 13,000 or 14,000 people.

For that is what the extension of the corporate limits means to the city of Xenia. It means almost a doubling in work of the census taker who will find his heels well worn down before he has enumerated the last soul. At that the extension of the limits does not offer the opportunity that it might as it includes woodland, cemetery in its area and a careful search of the census laws fails to reveal a section where it provides for the operation of the dead.

Education.

An educated man stands, as it were, in the midst of a boundless arsenal and magazine, filled with all the weapons and engines which the skill of man has been able to devise from the earliest time; and he works accordingly, with a strength borrowed from all past ages.—Carlyle.

To the American People

IT is the declared purpose of the United States Government to restore the railroads at an early date to the control of their owners.

The Association of Railway Executives represents those upon whom at that time responsibility will again rest for the prompt and successful movement of the country's commerce.

Those constituting this Association are keenly conscious of their accountability to the public.

They have accordingly determined to present as fully as they can, the fundamental facts and considerations which they themselves must face in their efforts to provide satisfactory railroad service.

It is hoped to engage the interest of the whole American people, whose welfare is so vitally dependent upon adequate transportation.

The country can grow only as the railroads grow. The railroad problem must be solved—and solved rightly and soon—if our country is to prosper.

It is to promote that prosperity—permanently and in the interest of the whole people—that railroad executives will present to the public the situation as they see it.
